Marion Man's Trial in U. S. Court Today

David Berry of Marion was among 10 members of Jehovah's Witnesses charged with violations of the selective service act, whose trial started today in the court of Federal Judge Frank K. Kloeb at Toledo, according to an Associated Press report.

Berry's case was heard by a jury. The disposition was not reported.

The other cases will be heard today and Thursday, according to the press reports.

Before the trial began, Judge Kloeb ordered the case of Antonia Bucco, 46, of Maple Grove, charged with failing to register, to serve one hour in the custody of the U. S. marshal on condition that he register as an alien and register in selective service.

3 DAYS TO GO IN SCRAP DRIVE

Appeal Made To Get All Possible Donations in Before Saturday Night.

Saturday night when the nationwide scrap drive sponsored by the newspapers officially closes will the people of Marion county be able to say, honestly:

"We've done our best, we're proud that we haven't failed our boys in service."

Only three days — Thursday, Friday, Saturday — remain to get your scrap into the nearest school.

If you have scrap to give and if you live in the residential areas of Marion or out in the rural communities, call the nearest school.

If you are in the downtown section call Harding High school, 4293, or St. Mary Parochial school, 5118.

37 Tons Yesterday

Yesterday the three Marion junkyards received 37 tons.

The scrap is still coming in, city and county schools have reported to Clyde C. Caldwell, co-chairman of the drive.

In a general survey yesterday of the situation out in the county Mr. Caldwell got the following reports:

LaRue, two trucks needed today; Green Camp, truck needed today; Martel, work finished yesterday, approximately 70 tons of scrap at school; Caledonia, two trucks needed Friday to clean up drive; Waldo, needed two trucks today; Claridon, completed work Saturday; Morral, nearly finished; Prospect, four more loads to come in; Pleasant, will finish this week.

"What we're anxious for in these last three days, is to get the scrap out of the homes and business places and off the farms, into the school grounds," Mr. Caldwell said this morning.

He explained that scrap given to the schools after Saturday can not be counted in Marion county's report.

After Saturday it will be the job of the junkyards to get the scrap to the foundries.

Army Trucks Busy

Army trucks were being used again today to help move the scrap to the schools.

H. A. Krigbaum, member of the salvage committee and in charge of transportation, said yesterday that in most of the communities outside Marion the transporting of scrap to the schools has been handled by individuals, business men and truck-owners in the vicinity.

He said he had found that many schools and townships have done their own gathering, using their own trucks.

Listed as having been used to date in the drive are trucks donated by the 333rd Engineer Regiment; Marion Engineer depot; state highway department; city and county; Montgomery Ward & Co. store; J. D. Jones, contractor; the Wright Transfer Co.; Marion Builders Supply Co.; Pure Oil Co.; Standard Oil Co.; Dutt Implement store.

In most cases the contributors of the trucks also furnished the driver and the army also supplied men to make collections, Mr. Krigbaum reported.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR RENT REGISTRATION

Time Up Friday; Blanks Distributed in County.

With the deadline for federal rent control registration on Friday, John K. Bartram, area director, announced today that registration blanks have been placed with Mayor D. A. Timson of Caledonia, for the convenience of landlords in the eastern part of the county.

Blanks also may be obtained at the branch libraries in Prospect and LaRue, at the main public library on South Main street, and at the common pleas courtroom on the third floor of the courthouse, and at the municipal clerk's office in the city building at West Center and Orchard streets.

Because of the rush of registrations, the area office at 304 West Center street has not been able to handle any complaint petitions which have been filed, Mr. Bartram said. The office has supplied some petitions but the number has not been large. Until after the registration data is collected it will be impossible to act on the petitions.

The director warned again that failure of landlords to comply with the rent control regulations, which are mandatory, makes them liable to a fine of $5,000 and a year's imprisonment.

SEIZURE OF BUILDINGS FOR WORKERS HINTED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The government warned today it might have to resort to billeting and commandeering of private buildings to house war workers.

Simultaneously it moved on another front to control all rents throughout the nation, on both business and residential property.

Foreseeing a serious housing emergency, John B. Blandford, housing administrator, said the government would offer to lease homes and buildings for the use of war workers.

"But if this does not yield a sufficient amount of necessary housing on time," he said, "we shall be forced to recommend the compulsory use of available private facilities through billeting, commandeering, requisitioning and similar devices."

Meanwhile, the house banking committee was ready to hear James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization, director, unfold the government's plans for sweeping control of all rents.

In a statement issued through the White House last night, Byrnes said he had received numerous reports that rent increases up to more than 100 per cent were being demanded for grocery stores, restaurants and other properties.

The program to lease homes and buildings, or parts of them, will be undertaken, Blandford said, in addition to a $600,000,000 new housing program.

MARIONITE IN KIDNAP PROBE

Woman Taken Into Custody as Suspect Later Cleared and Released.

A 32-year-old Marion woman was arrested here this morning and taken to Columbus in connection with the kidnaping of eight-month-old Daniel Thomas Scanlon from his crib in St. Ann's hospital Monday and a short time later was absolved when she appeared in a line-up at Columbus city prison and was released from custody, The Associated Press reported at noon.

The woman, a resident of Columbus, has been rooming in Marion only a short time and is known to officials of the hospital, it was reported.

A nurse, Miss Pauline Caplinger, who was threatened by the kidnaper when the baby was taken, said positively that the Marion suspect was not the abductress.

Exonerated Suspect

Miss Caplinger told officials she would be able to pick the kidnaper out of a crowd of 50 and that the suspect from Marion definitely was not the woman sought. She said the kidnaper was shorter and had blue eyes.

The Marion woman remained "quite calm" during her appearance in the line-up at the city prison, The Associated Press reported.

Police Chief Leo Phillips of Columbus, and three of his men came to Marion about 10 last night to work on a clue that the abductress might be here. They and Marion police traced her eventually and at 7:49 this morning she was taken into custody.

First report that a Marion woman was suspected came in an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus at 10 a. m. today.

Checking Several Clues

Besides the bare announcement that a Marion woman was being held and the assertion that hospital attaches were taken to prison to view the woman, Chief Phillips had no comment to make.

He had said earlier that several clues were being run down and definite progress was being made.

Search for the woman who threatened Miss Caplinger with a gun and abducted the baby Monday turned to Ironton yesterday but Columbus police declined to disclose the nature of their inquiry except to say that an officer had been sent there.

The baby's mother is 17-year-old Jane Scanlon of Newark, who has been employed at the hospital.

Account of Witness

The only person who saw the kidnaper clearly was a nurse, Miss Pauline Caplinger, 19, of Chillicothe, who surprised the woman with the child as she was leaving the nursery.

Miss Caplinger told Columbus police the woman pointed a gun at her and said, "Don't move."

Sister Mathia of the hospital said she saw the kidnaper leaving the hospital and started to follow her because the baby had no blanket.

"When I got to the alley behind the hospital I saw a car driving away," she said.

The woman escaped in an auto-

JAPS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES IN NEW BLOWS

Growing U. S. Air and Sea Power Hits Enemy on Three Fronts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—Growing prowess of American sea and air power had given the Japanese a severe six-day pummeling that wrecked enemy ships, planes and equipment throughout the whole Pacific battle zone from the Aleutians to the Solomons.

Communiques from the three active war fronts presented this picture of United States and allied fighting successes:

Solomon Islands — A heavy cruiser, four destroyers and a transport sunk; another destroyer probably sunk, three cruisers torpedoed and bombed, one severely; eight bombers, four fighter planes and three seaplanes destroyed.

Aleutian Islands — Japanese ships, camps and hangars at Kiska, the invaders' lone remaining foothold, blasted by aerial bombs and burned by incendiaries. Resistance was relatively weak.

New Guinea — Enemy ground forces pushed back in the Owen Stanley mountains toward their Kokoda base by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's allied troops while heavy bombers dropped 1,000-pound explosives on the Japanese airbase at Rabaul, New Britain. Grounded aircraft smashed by direct hits.

The American forces, the navy reported, lost a destroyer and two fighter planes in the Solomons All American and allied bombers returned from the Aleutian and New Britain raids.

Japan's losses as disclosed by navy communiques yesterday and last night pushed her total Solomon island toll to 260 destroyed planes, eight vessels sunk, three probably sunk and 37 damaged. The announced American total was 10 lost ships.

The latest series of beatings administered to the Japanese in the southeastern Pacific started Oct. 9 when marine corps aircraft damaged two cruisers and shot down three seaplanes.

Surprise Jap Force

On the night of Oct. 11-12, United States cruisers and destroyers surprised Japanese vessels attempting to land reinforcements on Guadalcanal island and with torpedoes and gunfire sank a 10,000-ton heavy cruiser, four destroyers and a 5,000-ton transport. The enemy sank a destroyer unidentified as yet by the navy.

Failing in its landing mission, the Japanese fleet steamed away but was caught a few hours later in a torpedo and dive bombing assault by pursuing navy and marine corps planes. At least one more cruiser was badly damaged and a destroyer was sent to the bottom. Later in the day, the planes attacked again, leaving a destroyer sinking and smashing either the damaged cruiser or another one sufficiently to cause the crew to abandon ship.

Meantime, the navy added, the marines on Guadalcanal launched their first offensive in weeks. Against bitter resistance, they enlarged their gains and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy jungle forces.

A four-flight attack of 65 Japanese bombers and fighters was intercepted over Guadalcanal by army, navy and marine corps fighter planes. Eight enemy

Admiral Nimitz Says U. S. Marines Can Hold Positions in Solomons

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 14—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, discussing his recent trip to the Solomon islands battle zone, said today he was confident "we can hold what we have got and consolidate our positions and eventually start moving ahead."

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet said he conferred with Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, naval commander in the South Pacific, and visited Guadalcanal and other island bases.

"But I didn't see a Jap—not even a prisoner," he remarked.

"I went down to the Solomon islands area to see with my own eyes what I had been reading and hearing about. The men on Guadalcanal were in fine spirit and working hard from early morning until late at night. I went to different island posts and inspected various island positions. It was just the kind of a trip you would expect a senior officer to make to get in touch with what is going on.

"I have seen the character of the jungle on Guadalcanal and realize the difficulties of moving troops to certain parts of the country. Everywhere I found a fine spirit of cooperation.

"The Japanese must now realize they are going against American forces in that area. Particularly in the marines they are meeting a people just as tough as they are themselves and just as well equipped and trained for jungle fighting as they are themselves.

* * *

"The Japs must not be underestimated. They are brave, resourceful, and for the most part experienced fighters. But they are meeting a people with those same characteristics now and suffering losses accordingly.

"Furthermore, the Japanese have a supply problem in the Solomons as difficult as our own."

He said that whether the Japanese were getting much from the Dutch East Indies to Rabaul Japanese base on New Britain Island, was hard to determine, but added it was "safe to say the supply problem is giving them many a headache."

United War Chest Drive Set To Start in County Monday

'Kickoff' Meeting of Workers Scheduled at 7:30 P. M.; First Reports Due Wednesday Night.

Marion county's United War Chest drive will be launched at a mass meeting of workers Monday night in The Star auditorium.

The new starting date was announced today by J. F. Oliphant, president of the Marion Community Foundation. The campaign previously had been set to start on Thursday, a week from tomorrow.

Other uses of the meeting place made the changes necessary, Mr. Oliphant said. Under the new schedule, the workers will attend a 7:30 p. m. "kickoff" meeting Monday night, make their first reports next Wednesday night Oct. 21 at a 6:30 dinner in the Masonic temple and their final reports Thursday night, Oct. 29, at the temple.

Two important developments on the appointment of campaign leaders were announced today.

Ellis Oller, a representative of the CIO, and John Zuck, representing the AFL, were appointed co-chairmen with Robert E. White to direct campaign activities. Their appointments were in recognition of the extensive plans the labor unions are making to help conduct the drive.

Division Heads Named

The other development was announcement of leaders for each of the 11 divisions of the campaign organization. Each of the leaders is setting up groups of workers.

D. J. Shelton is in charge of large industries, Cutler McClees in charge of small industries. Others on the list are Harold J. Grigsby, public service group; Russell H. Sechrist, retail chain stores; J. D. Torrance, independent retail stores; E. Paul Bachman, financial institutions; Lt. John Gist and Roy Garretson, government projects; Supt. E. E. Holl, public employes; Miss Merle Hamilton, general campaign including small businesses, professional men and virtually all those not reached through other divisions of the drive; Fred Hoch, retail; A. W. Kettle heads a group of "pinch hitters" who will be available to assist other divisions.

It is likely that approximately half of the total number of Marion city workers in the drive—expected to reach the 200 mark—will be in Mrs. Hamilton's division, for this group will handle the general solicitation. In addition, Mr. Hoch will head a large group to conduct the canvass in the county outside the city.

Some of the divisions already are proceeding rapidly with organization of their workers and report enthusiastic acceptance of the plan adopted for the campaign, Mr. Oliphant said. Drive activities were set up in such a way that all large business or industrial concerns will be canvassed by persons within their own organization, working on a quota plan.

Jr. C. of C. Plans Get Out Vote Drive

"Your Privilege Yet Vote!" is the new slogan selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the get out to vote campaign at a meeting last night at the Gas Co. club rooms on West Center street.

The group voted to support the proposed two-mill levy for the schools. It was announced that two members, Elton Kates and Everett Caldwell, will leave soon for the army.

Thomas Towmer of Marion was a guest. The business meeting was followed by a stag party.

Stolen Car Found—With All Four Tires Missing

Jacked up, with all four tires gone, a car owned by Wilbur Symes of 389 Bellefontaine avenue, was found yesterday afternoon on the Shutley road, a half mile south of Route 95, between Agosta and LaRue.

The car was found by the state patrol. A description of the vehicle was broadcast throughout the state following Mr. Symes' report to police that it was stolen Monday afternoon from a South Prospect street parking lot.

U. S. SUBS SINK 5 JAP SHIPS

Heavy Cruiser and Four Other Vessels Sent Down, Navy Reports.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The navy announced today that United States submarines in the western Pacific had sunk a Japanese heavy cruiser and four other vessels, probably sunk another, and damaged two.

This report of successful undersea attacks on eight enemy vessels in recent operations raised the announced United States submarine toll of Japanese naval and merchant shipping to 79 vessels sunk, 20 possibly sunk and 24 damaged—a total of 123.

Navy communique No. 151 said:

"Far east—

"1 United States submarines have reported the following results of operation against the enemy in far eastern waters.

"(a) One heavy cruiser sunk.

"(b) One medium sized cargo ship sunk.

"(c) One small cargo ship sunk.

"(d) One small tanker sunk.

"(e) One large tanker damaged.

"(f) One medium sized cargo ship damaged and probably sunk.

"(g) One medium sized tanker damaged.

"(h) One small trawler sunk.

"These actions have not been announced in any previous navy department communique."

RAF BOMBER FLEET BLASTS KIEL BASE

Nine Planes Lost, Indicating 180 in Raid.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 15—An RAF bomber fleet of well over 100 planes struck Kiel last night with a concentrated blast of explosives in a raid possibly as destructive as any of 70 which have been made against the Nazis' battered Baltic naval and U-boat base.

British sources said the results well compensated the RAF for the loss of nine planes. The exact number in the raiding force was not disclosed, but on the basis of normal five per cent losses, the British crowded probably 180 bombers over the target, one of the most vital in Germany.

A German broadcast put British losses at 10 planes, but said that the North sea port of Hamburg—linked by water with Kiel through the Kiel canal—also was bombed during the night.

Kiel, 66 miles northeast of Hamburg, is important not only for its big docks and strategic position as a hub of water transport but as a center for coal, iron and oil, lumber, railroad supplies, cement and food.

* * *

CAIRO, Oct. 14—United States fighter planes won their first major victory of the Middle East war yesterday when 12 of them fought 20 Messerschmitts over the German lines and shot down two, a statement from United States army headquarters said today.

A third German plane was damaged and the rest forced to disperse, the statement said.

Although American heavy and medium bombers have played an active role in this theater for several months, this was described as the first important combat for United States fighters.

TIMOSHENKO'S FORCES DRIVING ON STALINGRAD

Two New Wedges Opened in German Flank North of Volga City.

By The Associated Press

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's Red armies were reported by Moscow driven two wedges today into the Nazis' German barrier northwest of Stalingrad, while inside the city the defenders recaptured a street yielded to the Nazis on Monday.

It was Stalingrad's fifty-first day of siege.

Pravda reported that the Germans had also been thrown back in a salient south of the city, and declared that advancing Soviet troops had seized a basic point in the German lines and held it against counter-attacks.

Thus the Red armies were pictured as gaining ground and taking the initiative in three main sectors around the embattled city.

For the fourth consecutive day, Hitler's field headquarters reported no gains in the siege area and indicated that the initiative was passing to the Russians.

"In Stalingrad and on the Don front, some counter-attacks and advances launched by the Soviets were repelled," a Nazi communique said tersely.

The German command said axis troops driving toward the Black sea port of Tuapse, in the northwest Caucasus, "stormed additional dominating mountain ranges and mountain positions" and asserted that a single division captured over 100 fortified strongpoints.

Reds Claim Gains

The Russians, however, declared they had improved their positions along the Black sea coast, southeast of Novorossisk, when Red fleet marines wiped out two axis infantry company in a battle for a coastal highway.

In the central Caucasus—a zone not mentioned in today's German communique—the Russians said they had beaten off an attack by two tank-led German infantry battalions, killed about 300 Nazis and driven the survivors back to their original lines.

Dispatches to Red Star said Russian shock troops advanced in two sectors on the northwest steppes, along the vital corridor between the Don and Volga rivers, in fighting that swirled around trench lines, hills and villages.

Red army tanks followed up the infantry assault, Soviet headquarters reported, and "killed about 300 Hitlerites and destroyed four guns, eight mortars, 20 machine-guns and several trucks with supplies."

Latest accounts said the Germans, already beginning to shiver in the chill autumn air, were attempting to dig in for another long winter's campaign.

Battle Waning

Inside the Volga metropolis, the battle appeared to be waning as mass attacks generally gave way to artillery and mortar dueling.

It was just two weeks ago today that Hitler boasted in the Berlin sportspalast that Stalingrad's fall was inevitable, and in the interval the Russians appeared to have notably improved their positions.

On the aerial front, squadrons of RAF bombers perhaps 250 strong attacked the German U-boat and naval base at Kiel overnight in the second night attack on the reich in 24 hours. Nine RAF bombers were listed as missing.

Once again, the Berlin radio complained that the RAF was resorting to "terror" tactics in bombing the nerve centers of Hitler's war machine.

Meanwhile, a review of official reports disclosed that two-thirds of the merchant marine possessed by Italy at the start of the war has been knocked out.

Before June, 1940, Italy's merchantmen aggregated 3,500,000 tons. Of this total, a survey showed, the allies have destroyed, crippled or seized 2,366,000 tons.

Other developments:

Battle of Malta—RAF fighters, beating off an almost constant stream of axis bombers over Malta, were officially credited with shooting down 17 more enemy planes yesterday for a three-day total of

TO FORM COMMITTEE ON FARM TRUCKING

Agricultural War Board To Handle Certificates.

A county farm transportation committee headed by Frank C. Montgomery, chairman of the Marion County U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board is being formed to assist Marion county farmers and farm truckers in filling out applications for "certificates of war necessities."

Mr. Montgomery will attend a meeting in Columbus Oct. 15 and 16 with regard to registration of farm trucks.

Secretary Wickard has instructed the County USDA War Board to appoint a county farm transportation committee consisting of five regular and four alternate members. The chairman will be Mr. Montgomery. The other members will consist of two farmer members who are representatives of the principal types of agriculture in the county, a member who represents truck transportation services for agricultural commodities in the county, and a member who is a dealer of farm supplies in the county. Alternates having the necessary qualifications will be appointed by these members also. Appointments will be made by the War Board Saturday at the USDA War Board office.

Mr. Montgomery pointed out that the "certificate of war necessity" aim to confine truck operations to those which are necessary to the war effort or to the essential domestic economy, and to make the most use possible out of each vehicle. To this end, the certificate will set a maximum mileage and the tonnage load for each truck or vehicle for which a certificate is issued.

Without a certificate, a truck cannot be operated lawfully and without a certificate, no gasoline, tires or repairs can be obtained. Possession of the certificate will not in itself make an operator eligible for new tires, however.

In order to keep his certificate, an operator will be required to keep a monthly record of all operations on a form provided on the back of each certificate. At the time of every vehicle affected must be checked at an inspection station designated by the Office of Price Administration, every 5,000 miles, or at the end of each 60 days, whichever occurs first.

Meeker Youth Qualifies for Ton Litter Club

Donald Wood has become the first member of the Meeker High school chapter of Future Farmers of America to produce a ton litter in the allotted 180 days, according to a report today from Ivor Chapter advisor, Burdell Hunter.

A litter of 10 pigs raised out of 12 weighed 2,210 pounds at the end of the six month period. Both the dam and sire are registered Chester Whites.

Wood, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Wood of Meeker.

CIO WINS VOTE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—Employes of the L. V. Mark and Sons company at Vanceburg, Ky., chose the United Shoe Workers of America (CIO) in a bargain agency election, the national labor relations board announced. Of 221 votes cast, 135 were for the CIO union, 86 against and three challenged.

OHIO RELIEF LOAD AT NINE-YEAR LOW

Jobs in War Industries Cut Welfare Costs.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Ohio relief rolls, continuing to fall as the state's wartime industries provide jobs for increased numbers of "unemployables," reached a new low in September for the nine-year history of relief in the state, Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood reported today.

Sherwood said reports from 165 of the state's 154 relief areas indicated a case load of approximately 27,850 costing about $814,000. Corresponding figures for August, when the previous low mark was set, were 28,985 cases and expenditures of $830,900.

Preliminary 1942 figures, Sherwood said, indicate total relief expenditures for nine months of $9,352,524, a drop of $3,856,967 compared to the $13,210,491 spent in the corresponding 1941 period.

The September expenditures fell $361,972 under the $1,175,972 figure for September, 1941. The case-load a year ago totaled 42,373.

Sherwood said seasonal requests for fuel and clothing might increase relief costs during the balance of the year.

A Promise for Tomorrow

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

CHAPTER 21

The Tall Stranger

"AS a matter of fact," Kelland began again, "the old-timers around here say the fishing isn't good yet. I think you'll do better to go on up to Eagle Creek."

Poor old man, Julie thought compassionately, seeing beads of perspiration come to his forehead as he made continued effort to get rid of them. And even as she tried to put pieces of the puzzle together, she heard footsteps upstairs. A door opened, closed softly. Someone came down the stairway, the sound of footsteps came steadily down the long hall toward them.

Julie's heart pounded when, for a dramatic moment, the steps hesitated, stopped. Someone stood just outside the door.

Then, with elaborate show of heartiness, he called, "That you Arnaldo? Come in. Meet my friends here."

A tall man stepped instantly into the room. Julie's hands tightened on the arm of her chair. It was the tall stranger of the trail, all right.

He bowed briefly as Kelland made the introductions.

"Dr. Hamilton—Mr. Fowler, this is—Mr. —n—" dull red spots mottled his cheeks, "Mr. Arnold Mon—Mount," Kelland fumbled finally.

"How do you do," Julie acknowledged quietly and wondered why he tried so pitifully hard to hide the truth. It certainly wasn't a plan very well formed.

"This is a very great pleasure, sir," Mr. 'Mount' said in smooth clipped English that marked him instantly as of foreign birth.

Pete shook hands. "That's good," he said dryly. "Hope we're not butting in on a party here."

"But certainly not," the tall foreigner turned now to Julie. "I believe we have met before? Aren't you the young lady who ran away from me on the day you were lost from your companion?"

Julie blushed hotly. "Yes, I—was—upset."

"Naturally." His glance studied her boldly. "You enjoy fishing?"

And when Julie, chin up, eyes levelled coolly, met that glance she saw that he was quite aware of the purpose of her visit—and he knew that she realized it.

Strange Behaviour

Just when Julie thought she could stand the strain no longer, Pete pulled himself out of his chair, picked up his hat.

"Well, Kelland, if it's still all right to count on stopping here with you, we'll go back and get the car. Left it down the road aways. We weren't quite sure which place was yours."

Instantly Kelland and 'Mr. Mount' exchanged glances.

"Why—yes—of course," Harry Kelland faltered—

"Plenty of time for that," the stranger interrupted smoothly. "Why not wait until the heat of the day is passed? Come, let me show you some of the strange old treasures we have found here."

"Thanks a lot. We'll have a look at them later," Pete declined easily. "I don't think Julie will mind a little sun. She needs the exercise. And I don't want to leave the car down on that highway too long. Somebody might want to borrow my tires."

Julie rose then, her heart racing as she sensed growing tension in the veneer of politeness with which they were all painting the surface of the situation.

"I assure you, your car will be perfectly safe," 'Arnold Mount' insisted. "I shall, in fact, send my man down for it at once."

His man! So there were still others in this strange household! Julie watched for Pete's next move.

"Thanks, old man." Pete's grin looked absolutely bona fide, and except for the sudden deepening of the blue in his eyes, Julie wouldn't have known that he wasn't off guard. "I'm a crank about who drives that little pet car of mine. Come on, Sissy. We'll be right back."

Pete took her arm and for a moment, she thought they actually would make it to the doorway. And they wouldn't be 'right back.' She was sure of that. Once they got back to the car—

But Arnold Mount had no intention that they should leave—yet! The muzzle of his very business-like pistol proved that an instant later.

"I am sorry, my dear friends," he said from the doorway he blocked most effectively, and still smiling even as he trained the gun on them,—"it will be quite impossible for you to leave now."

Pete feigned a brand of amazed surprise that was first-class acting. Even in the midst of her terror, Julie was thrilled and perhaps a little less frightened, knowing that the desperate Arnold Mount wouldn't find Pete any push-over, whatever he was.

"What is this?" Pete demanded, grinning at Kelland. "A new game?"

Kelland took his head in his hands.

Pete took a step forward but the gun muzzle stopped him abruptly.

"If you will please sit down," he jerked his head slightly toward the chair where Pete had lounged only a moment before. "I think we will not need to alarm the lady."

Locked In

Julie, watching the hard, ruthless face, felt her blood chill. This man was no ordinary criminal. His gun was no coward's threat. He would use it—if he thought necessary—instantly, effectively. He feared Pete, recognized him as a threat to this plan he was carrying out, whatever it might be. He would brook no interference, cost what it might!

"And now, my dear host," he turned to where Kelland sat weeping silently, "perhaps you had better retire to your room and compose yourself."

Like an obedient child, Kelland left the room. A moment later they heard his slow, heavy step on the stairs, a door opened, the unmistakable sound of a woman's sob stifled quickly as the door closed.

"Perhaps the situation seems a bit strange to you," Mount began, that cold, taunting mockery in his voice again. "I assure you it is easily explained."

Pete's grin still looked quite natural. "I'll stand some explaining, I'd say."

"You see—Mr. Kelland is quite hopelessly insane."

Julie stared at him. Ridiculous! Harry Kelland might be out of his mind with worry over Dawn. But he was certainly not mad.

"Well, that's news!" Pete raised his eyebrows. "You don't mean it?"

"When we saw you coming," Mount bowed sardonically, "through the apple orchard, Mr. Kelland made an attempt on his life."

"What for?"

"He felt he could not bear to see you, he said. And yet—" he smiled, "I understand you are among his closest friends."

"Well, we thought we were."

"Then," he shrugged, "it's a mixed up [illegible] I am sorry to have had to frighten you [illegible] surely we put the best [illegible] his pocket. But, Julie noticed, he kept his hand there to [illegible] knew if you left to [illegible] mental [illegible] Mr. Kelland [illegible] Mr. Mount, Julie heard the [illegible] would probably [illegible] end his life."

"I——" Pete [illegible]

"So that's it."

Arnold Mount searched Pete's bland, innocent surprise apparently found it satisfactory. He [illegible] Orville Zornes of nearby [illegible] Rock reported shot and critically wounded Fletcher, 53, while trying to arrest Warrant. Fletcher, the added fired a shotgun and Tom McQuinn, who accompanied the marshal.

Meeker Rally Day Attendance Large

Attendance at the rally day services at the Methodist Sunday school at Meeker last Sunday was 135, exceeding the goal of 130.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Elmer Seifert, consisted of numbers by the choir directed by Mrs. Marion Temple, a talk by Donald Cookston on what the Sunday school offers to the community and a vocal duet by Doris Miller and Elsie McKelvy accompanied by Mrs. Donald Cookston.

The junior class taught by Mrs. Henry Coon had the highest record of attendance with 76 per cent of the class present.

Next Sunday will be God's Gifts Sunday. A display of farm crops will be placed at the front of the Sunday school room. The attendance aim is 150.

Two Youths Get Long Term in Kidnaping

By The Associated Press

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 14—Robert William Cote, 17, and Jack H. Triplett, 20, who pleaded guilty to kidnaping a prison officials wife in fleeing the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., last month, were sentenced to 20 years each yesterday.

Judge MacSwinford sentenced each of the youths to 15 years on the kidnap charge and five years for auto theft, the terms to run consecutively. Triplett is from Cromona, Ky., and Cote Willimantic, Conn.

The pair forced Mrs. R. W. Hefner, wife of the chief clerk into the trunk of her automobile and used her car to escape. She broke free in Ashland, Ky., and her abductors fled on foot.

UNION CO. HARVESTS BIG SOYBEAN CROP

Value of 28,000 Acre Yield Estimated at $1,000,000.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 14—Union county farmers are taking advantage of good weather to harvest a million dollar soy bean crop which is being grown in the county this year.

That the crop would be the greatest soy bean crop in the history of the county was indicated by early fields which have been combined. Yields are running from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre with the average of close to 25 being anticipated.

Union county AAA officials estimated that there were 28,000 acres of soy beans grown in the county this year. At Monday's price of $1.58 per bushel being paid here the crop would be worth $1,106,000 if the average is 25 bushels per acre.

An early snow or unusually wet weather appears to be the only danger of getting the crop out in good shape. Beans have dried out well and although frost occured before some crops on bottom land had ripened moisture content has been running from 12 to 14 per cent, good enough to be received at the elevators.

BERN HEARS OF RIFT IN ROME-GERMAN RANKS

Split May Cost Italy Control of Adriatic Port

By The Associated Press

BERN, Oct. 14—Istanbul and Stockholm correspondents of the National Zeitung of Basel reported indications today of a German-Italian disagreement which might cost Italy her Adriatic port of Trieste and one dispatch said the rift stemmed partly from recent Italian-American developments.

The Stockholm correspondent quoted the newspaper Dagens Nyheter as reporting that German-Italian differences were accentuated by Italian permission for Myron C. Taylor's plane to land at Rome when the special envoy of President Roosevelt was on his way recently to conferences with the Pope at the Vatican. Also reported adding tinder was the announcement by U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle that Italians in the United States no longer would be under restrictions as enemy aliens.

The Istanbul correspondent said that a new meeting of Hitler and Mussolini was expected soon, and that rumors had been heard in Turkey that Germany wanted to take over full control of Trieste.

140,000 IN OHIO GROUP

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Approximately 140,000 Ohioans would be affected by legislation to draft 18 and 19-year-olds into the army, Ohio selective service headquarters estimates. The age group was registered last June 30.

SEAMEN FROM LOST ASTORIA TO SPEAK

Kenton, Mt. Victory Youths in Solomons Battle.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 14—Howard F. Davis, 19, of Mt. Victory and Donald J. Matheus, 20, of Kenton, will be guests of Kenton businessmen at a luncheon program here Tuesday when they will tell of their experiences as seamen, first class, aboard the U. S. S. Astoria, sunk by enemy action last Aug. 9 in the battle of the Solomons.

Both were in the water several hours before being picked up by other units of the fleet. Later they were taken to Treasure Island, San Francisco, Calif., and were granted 30-day leaves. They are to start back to California about Oct. 20.

Prior to navy announcement of the sinking of the Astoria, the two youths had refrained from speaking publicly of their experiences on it.

Both Davis and Matheus were sworn in this week as members of Porter-Wilson post, Veterans of Foreign Wars—fast fighting men of the present conflict to be accepted for membership in the Kenton unit.

Inspection Held At Meeting of Grange

County Deputy Lamer A. Williams conducted the annual inspection at a meeting of Progressive Grange Monday night. Miss Virginia Epley, lecturer, was in charge of a program which opened with a song by the group and a dialogue by Harlie Irey and Urban Zachman. A talk on agriculture was given by Howard Clark. Ruth and Dorothy Kaufman gave a play.

MEN HOME ON LEAVE MAY VOTE ANY TIME

Board of Elections Prepared To Mail Ballots.

Men in the armed services home on leave may vote any time, except Sundays, at the board of elections office on the second floor at 134½ East Center street. Of 67 absent voters' ballots cast to date, 44 have been by men in service.

A reminder to the men in service came today from board of election officials, together with advice to relatives, that ballots may be sent to any man in service, provided it will be possible for the ballots to be returned by 6:30 p. m. on Tuesday Nov. 3.

All that is required for men who are regularly registered is that they fill in and return cards, which may be obtained at the board of elections office by parents, relatives or friends. Upon receipt of the cards, properly filled in, the election office will send the ballots.

Applications for men who are not registered to vote may be obtained through the office of the secretary of state.

While men in service are given until 6:30 p. m. on Nov. 3 to return their ballots, all other absent voter ballots must be returned to the board office by Friday, Oct. 30

Amazing way for "run-down" people to get new vitality... pep!

A truly marvelous change can be brought about in miserable digestive complaints, underweight, weakness, loss of appetite, by two important steps:

1*—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2*—Energize your body with

RICH, RED BLOOD!

If you are one of those unfortunates who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, have been vexed by overtaxing worries, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness . . . yet have no organic trouble or focal infection . . . and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number . . . if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

SSS Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient . . . and to promote those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat . . . to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality . . . pep . . . become animated . . . more attractive!

OPA Files First Rent Suit in Lorain Area

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14 — The OPA has filed its first rent enforcement suit for the Lorain-Elyria defense area.

The suit declares that Mr. and Mrs. Salvatori Misti, owners of a two-family house in Lorain, are charging a tenant, Mrs. Mary Nicaloff, $2 more than a ceiling rent of $24 monthly.

TRAVEL ECONOMIES MAPPED FOR STATE

Officials Meet in Columbus To Draft Plans.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Wartime transportation economies soon will be felt in all Ohio communities, Chairman George C. McConnaughey of the Ohio war transportation committee declared today.

"Transportation conservation heretofore appeared to many people to be a vague, rather distant program," he said. "But Ohio translated it into a practical effort yesterday at a statewide conference of local officials.

"We've got the green light and we intend to produce results."

Thomas Nicholl, assistant director of the division of local transport, office of defense transportation, cautioned some 200 Ohio mayors and local transportation representatives

"We expect our policies to be carried out by local authorities. They should assume that responsibility without having us step in and do something more drastic."

Nicholl said that despite ODT warnings some Ohio cities "have extended bus lines" and operate "bus lines paralleling street car lines."

"We're now past the conversation stage," he said. "We're at the conservation stage."

C. K. Smaltz, Mansfield war transportation committee administrator, related that automobiles in factory parking lots there are examined to ascertain if the tires need recaps. If so, the owner is reminded to obtain recaps at once.

Smaltz, traffic manager for the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co., said Mansfield had 17 plant transportation plans in operation.

Dale Archer of Lima, state highway division public relations representative, said Lima workers living in outlying areas share the ride on a community basis. They travel together to Lima, then separate to walk to their various jobs.

Rome Says Prisoners Lost in Sub Attack

By The Associated Press

ROME (FROM ITALIAN BROADCASTS), Oct. 14 — The high command said today an Italian ship loaded with 400 British prisoners had been torpedoed by a British submarine. An Italian submarine was reported missing in the Atlantic.

The Italian communique said that 261 of the British prisoners on the torpedoed Italian vessel had been saved by the Italian crew.

Mr. Johnson, according to Phil J. Trounstine, state chairman of the War Savings staff, was chairman of the War Bond rally in Knox county on Sept. 29. The activities, well planned in advance, were continuous from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. and included a luncheon, a parade, a broadcast, and other events. The day resulted in sales of over $300,000 in War Bonds.

DR. H. L. BELL GIVES U. S. SENATE PRAYER

Former Marion Pastor Officiates at Session on Oct. 5.

Dr. Harry L. Bell, pastor of the Columbus Heights Christian church in Washington, D. C., and former pastor of Central Christian church here, offered the prayer when the U. S. senate opened its session Monday, Oct 5, at 11 a. m., on the expiration of the recess. The prayer as recorded in the Congressional Record, follows

"Thy Word, O God, is a lamp unto our feet and light upon our pathway. Today we are conscious of the need of that Light. We are gathered in this bright room, the sun is nigh in the heavens, yet how dark is our world! All the good things for which we have prayed and worked, in which we have steadfastly believed, seem to be lost in darkness. We are groping our way. As the little child in the midnight darkness finds reassurance and strength, reaching out and touching the hand of father or mother, may we be strengthened as through the dark we reach and find Thy hand.

"Let not the light of our faith be extinguished! Keep it burning brightly in our hearts, our homes, our Nation, the world. Though the moral world of righteousness, love and brotherhood seems to be blacked out, keep the pilot light of Try truth and good will burning in our hearts. And when the night is done, when the carnage is over and morning dawns, establish Thy rule in every land.

"Bless Thou, the deliberations of this body this day and not only this day but through every day, that Thy will may be done in our hearts as it is in heaven above. In His name we pray. Amen."

Democratic Candidate Makes Brief Stop in City.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct 14—Standing in the shadow of the roll of honor of Galion service men John McSweeney, Democratic candidate for governor, spoke to a crowd of Galion citizens Tuesday afternoon during a brief stop in his campaign of Ohio towns and cities. Commenting on the nearness of the honor roll McSweeney said, "you and I have a duty to prove to the world that democracy will not fail and is a working type of government, which is well worth the gallant effort of our fighting forces."

McSweeney criticized the financial program of the Bricker administration, declaring that sales tax revenues were used to build up a surplus in the state treasury instead of being distributed to local government subdivisions.

He also called for establishment of an adequate old age pension system through cooperation with fraternal and labor groups.

In outlining his platform, the Democratic candidate pledged his fullest cooperation to the farmers, saying that in the first fight for American democracy it was the "embattled farmers" who first stood ground against the invading forces. McSweeney continued by pledging full effort in guarding the safety of miners by adoption of safety devices in mining engineering, and promised that labor should have the full participation in the government.

McSweeney closed with the comment that he hoped when the soldiers of this war return they will not return to an employment window bearing the sign, "No help wanted; and," he continued, "it is our job as voters to see that such a situation is avoided."

Moving of Southern Ohio Hill Families To More Fertile Areas Proposed

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Thousands of Ohio marginal land farm families, now "just existing," should migrate to productive soil or to war industry areas, Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the state's war agriculture committee, declared today.

Indorsing Secretary of Agriculture Wickard's proposal that hard-scrabble land farmers should move as "a wartime necessity," Kruse said:

Many of these Ohio families live in the forest-clad hills of Meigs, Adams, Gallia and Lawrence counties. They should be taken elsewhere as tenant farmers or to work on farms for wages. They might also be moved to industrial areas to find greater opportunity.

"These families are now just existing off agriculture—not living. The land simply will not support them."

Kruse traced the history of a typical marginal land family in southeastern Ohio:

"Grandfather bought 160 acres of the wooded hill land for $1 an acre. It was his homestead. Today four families of descendants live on those 160 acres.

"In the spring each family buys a cow about to freshen. Comes a calf—the family drinks the cow's milk and eats the calf during the summer months. When winter arrives, the cow is killed for food.

"Eggs produced by their few chickens are traded for groceries. They somehow weather the winter, then start over with another old cow in the spring. That is not a very satisfactory way of making a living."

Kruse said the average gross income for farm families in Meigs county in 1939 was between $600 and $700.

"And that included farmers on good river bottom land," he added.

Kruse, also Ohio's AAA chairman, said farmers elsewhere in the state are in need of farm help because of inroads of selective service and industry.

"There's a big supply of experienced farm labor in our southeastern counties," he said.

Wade Hammond, Ohio director of the U. S. employment service, observed yesterday that the big "supply area" for unskilled industrial labor is southeastern Ohio.

At Washington, Rep. George Bender, Republican congressman-at-large from Ohio, suggested that marginal land farmers should be transferred immediately as a means of helping to solve war labor shortages in the state.

A farm security administration spokesman said Ohio's marginal land extends generally south along the Ohio river from Steubenville and two or three tiers of counties adjoining the river counties.

The Fact: Stalingrad Stands

EXPERT guessing on Stalingrad's situation is more confusing than enlightening. A layman can be excused for brushing aside conjecture and concentrating on the fact: Stalingrad stands.

One of the main objectives of Germany's summer campaign has not been reached by the end of summer. Hitler's promise that Stalingrad would be taken has not been kept yet. Russia again has refused to be beaten in the year's biggest battle, just as last year it refused to be beaten at Moscow.

Germany has expended a vast amount of manpower and material in the effort to do something that has not yet been done. It does not mean that Germany has lost the war nor that Russia and its allies are appreciably advanced on the road to victory. It does convey clearly, however, that Germany at the end of its fourth autumn in the war is having difficulties of major consequence to its future efforts. Russia still is fighting, still taking a heavy toll of German power, still giving Great Britain and the United States time to prepare their own offensive against what clearly will be a German military organization far reduced from the maximum strength it attained in the summer of 1940 when it was able to bowl over France, the only major land power it had met before Hitler decided to attack Russia.

What About the Musicians?

DISMISSAL of Assistant Attorney General Arnold's motion for an injunction restraining James C. Petrillo's musicians' union from enforcing a ban on the making of transcriptions and recordings raises a delicate point in the government's handling of the Petrillo situation.

That point will have to be hashed out by lawyers and judges. Meanwhile, the curious public wonders about the musicians who are supposed to reap the benefit of the Petrillo strategy. Unless things have improved for them since the first of last August, the president of the American Federation of Musicians shortly is going to be in trouble with his own members.

The question of his right to play hob with the musical needs and desires of his countrymen apparently is a job for legal hair splitters. But the question of his ability to make more work for musicians and improve their lot generally by an order forbidding them to make transcriptions and recordings is a relatively simple matter of dollars and cents. Certainly after more than two months, musicians should have some definitive opinions on the wisdom of what is being done in their behalf by James C. Petrillo.

Confidence in Americans

RUBBER DIRECTOR JEFFERS is beginning to take the bumps on his new job. There are going to be a lot of them.

He has volunteered to handle one of the hardest assignments cut out for government by the success of Japan's drive in the southwest Pacific. Every citizen who wants to win the war has a stake in his success.

Right off the bat, however, he has promised that he will have confidence in other Americans, the men he has drawn from the rubber industry to help him. "I am assuming that Americans can trust Americans," he has explained to his critics. "I am assuming that all these men, like me, are doing the best they can for this country and forgetting personal interests."

This policy is in contrast to the policy of assuming that everybody in Washington not there in a political capacity needs to be handled as a suspicious person, an attitude that has been common among New Dealers. Mr. Jeffers, a businessman who has won the confidence of the White House apparently hopes to pass it along to the men he is gathering about him for his vital job. If he succeeds, the consequences might be almost as helpful to the country in the long run as mastery of the rubber problem, itself. Willing to concede that the other fellow's motives may be blameless, too, has not been a conspicuous characteristic of Washington procedures the last few years.

Amen to Mr. Green

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the AFL, which has learned about Communists the hard way—by fighting them—took care of a troublesome problem with neatness and dispatch the other day. Mr. Green was replying to fervent appeals by a pair of British delegates to the AFL convention in Toronto for working unity with Russian trade unions.

What Mr. Green said, in effect, was: Dictatorship in one country is just as bad as it is in any other country. Americans want none of it, whether it's made in Russia or Germany. Or, in plainer words, just because Russia happens to be an ally in the fight against Germany is no reason why anyone should forget that Russia was and still is a dictatorship.

If Mr. Green's snappy answer were to be repeated enough times it might dispose of the absurd claim that in order to fight with Russia it is necessary to agree that the Communist way of doing things is above reproach. Certainly it would be just as sensible to take the attitude that before Russia gets any more help from this quarter it must embrace a different form of government, too.

Figures Show Too Many War Bonds Being Held Short Time, Then Cashed.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—Hot-and-cold-running patriots have been buying government bonds in public, then sneaking to the postoffices and banks to redeem them for cash.

The number of these chameleon heroes is growing, not much, but too much. The last treasury figures show $25,000,000 of war bonds were redeemed in July, $32,000,000 in August, and $34,000,000 in September, for a total of $91,000,000 redeemed of all bonds sold since May.

How many stamp chiselers have tip-toed in for redemption, nobody knows. The amount involved in dollars cannot be large, yet it seems almost incredible that any American, at a time like this, would cash in either his bond or his stamp, unless he faced a personal crisis just as serious as the national crisis which caused him to invest in victory.

Not much is said publicly about these people. From the purely financial standpoint, the treasury is not alarmed, inasmuch as the September redemptions amounted to only .027 per cent of the bonds sold that month.

But everyone knows it costs the treasury money to sell bonds (administration, advertising, etc.) and every bond or stamp redeemed must be sold over again at added expense.

There are few more effective ways you can aid the enemies of this country than by bravely pretending to buy what you do not propose to hold and defend.

Tires Coming

The government is not fooling now in its promise to provide tires for all, to keep this motorized nation going on wheels. The promise of Mr. Jeffers can and will be fulfilled.

The government already has practically doubled the recapped tire quotas for public disposition this month of October, from 425,000 to 925,000.

As tires wear out, B, C and S card-holders will go before an inspector every 60 days (A card-holders every four months) and from them may secure certifications with which to appeal to the rationing boards for reclaimed rubber tires. No one here suggests the program will not work.

Two months ago rubber was the hottest subject. Today, it is the coldest.

The only thing that has happened in the meantime has been a straight-forward, common-sense investigation of the problem and the appointment of an experienced (but not in rubber) businessman with an affirmative reputation to work out an affirmative policy all that anyone, including this column, ever asked.

The only new part of the program is the proposal to develop 20,000,000 victory tires from reclaimed rubber, and even this proposal was being worked up in the government mill before Mr. Jeffers took over.

It might have been instituted anyway. So what Mr. Jeffers has contributed actually is a change of government policy from repression to affirmative help.

The old chant that the automobiles of the nation would be in the ditch, or everyone would have to walk by such and such a date, has been replaced in a few weeks with a valid and workable solution.

The alteration is a really great achievement of government, and an excellent example of what can be done, by selecting government directors who say they can do things, in place of those here who have favored a "can't chant" from the beginning.

President's Trip

Some editors and readers have written me asking about the lack of comment in this column on the censorship dispute of the press with the White House, and requesting my personal views.

It seems to me the discussion went astray somehow. The debated questions have been whether the President's life was really endangered, whether news of the trip should have been kept from the people so long, and such technical matters.

The President should have the right of war-time censorship, if he thinks his safety is involved, whether or not anyone else believes it was. But he should take the responsibility of this censorship entirely from the press.

The way the White House handled the affair may leave suspicions in the minds of some people that they are not getting all the news they are entitled to, through their press. In any similar future censorship, the government should go far enough in handling the matter to prevent any such suspicion from arising.

So also with the President's criticism of "certain publishers, columnists and radio commentators" for breaking down public morale. His blanket castigation tends to tear down public confidence in general.

If he had specified those whom he believed guilty, and what they have said or done to provoke his charge, they would have been exposed and tried before the bar of public opinion. A blanket cloud would then not remain over all.

Army Trains Drivers

On the backing, parking and signaling course a driver has to be good to get a "six by six" parked in places like this. Object is to do it without knocking down any stakes.

• • •

Wide World Features

DENVER, Oct. 14 — In two days the army is making good drivers out of poor ones.

Lieut. W. O. Earl of Buckley Field, Denver, had to turn out drivers that fast to keep the Buckley field war wheels moving.

He designed a circular driving range, about a quarter mile in length, that gives a student the thrills of a long cross country run plus the headaches of city driving all within the space of a few minutes.

The student takes one of the army's big trucks, in soldier slang a "six by six," over, around, through and across deep gullies, plowed ground and other hazards that would upset any passenger car that attempted the trail.

Compressed Driving

"This looks like spectacular driving," says Lieutenant Earl. "But that isn't its purpose. It simply crowds the driving experiences that a person would meet in a year or two of normal work into the space of a day or two of driving on the range.

"In addition, this spectacular portion of the course isn't its most important part. The drivers spend only a small percentage of their time on this section. Their most important instruction is obtained on the parking, signaling, backing, starting and stopping range.

"On that range we emphasize safety and care of equipment, which is the fundamental purpose of the driving school.

"In addition to field work, the drivers must study two or three hours a day, between trips, to familiarize themselves with state and city laws. They have to study maps of Buckley field and of the city of Denver so they can take people or cargoes safely and by the shortest route to their destinations."

Hundreds of drivers are needed at Buckley. They weren't available so the Army started hiring civilians. Mostly they are young fellows between high school and draft age. Soon women probably will be employed. In tests, they have proved as able as men, even on heavy trucks, says Earl.

Then Comes the Draft

Usually men stay on the job only a few weeks, until they are drafted or go into war industries.

"We decided the only way to meet this situation was to maintain a school where we could make competent drivers out of the mediocre or inexperienced ones that were available," he says.

Army officers say Earl's school is a success and undoubtedly will be copied by other army posts. While many drivers are "graduated" after a day or two of instruction, some are in school as long as two weeks.

Earl, youthful, pleasant but efficient, was a Detroit manufacturer before the war. After he joined the army he was sent to a motor maintenance school for two months where he learned about heavy army "rolling stock" the hard way—in overalls.

At Buckley field he simply was assigned as motor maintenance officer and told "to get in there and pitch" when the driving situation became critical.

Our Asiatic Ally

By Daniel DeLuce

The writer of this Wide World dispatch has covered the battlefronts of three continents, from the blitzkrieg that ruined Poland to the almost unopposed march of the Japanese through Burma, where he watched the now famous "Flying Tigers" in action. He has faith in the fighting will of the Chinese. If it can be supported with guns and supplies. In connection with his article, therefore, there is published herewith a digest of an article by a New York Times writer now in India describing what is being done to strengthen China's war effort.

• • •

CHINA keeps on fighting a war "with guts and gumption"—as one admiring American army officer phrased it—despite the fact that her troops literally make their own bullets.

An ordinary Japanese infantry regiment has nearly 300 per cent more firepower than any elite regiment under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's command. Japanese artillery often fights completely unchallenged. There are few counter-battery duels. The Chinese simply don't have guns.

As long as a Burma Road existed, China had hopes of eventually equipping her millions of young soldiers with modern arms. But the Burma Road has become a Japanese asset.

A small hard-working fleet of American cargo planes flies a few tons of supplies daily from India, over the eastern spurs of the Himalayas, but they can't be expected to outfit a Chinese army. Their job of carrying fuel, ammunition and spare parts for American army aircraft in China is huge in itself.

Chinese frankly say that until another land route connects China with the outside world, the United Nations hardly can expect China to acquire an offensive punch.

Chinese regard the winning back of Burma as requirement No. 1 for ending China's discouraging role of hermit. The British agree. If Gen. Sir Archibald Percival Wavell had his wish, he would be leading the Indian army in a Burma campaign today. But he has said that he, too, is on "the wrong end of the supply line."

GEOGRAPHICALLY, Burma was easier for the Japanese to invade from the east than it is now for the British from the west. Rangoon was figuratively a hop-skip-and-jump from the initial Japanese base. Any invader must win back Rangoon in order to make Burma pay dividends.

The Chinese civilian, tightening his belt another notch, has many other things to worry about besides Burma. Chinese currency has been in a tailspin, in regard to purchasing power. Commodities are so scarce that prices are fantastic. A Chinese dollar at the bank is quoted at 1/20 of a U. S. dollar. Economists say its power to purchase locally produced goods is relatively only 1/100 of a U. S. dollar.

A pre-war 12 cent chicken in Kunming now costs the equivalent of $3. A pound of tinned butter brings $7.50. A tin of 50 cigarets is variously quoted at from $7 to $17. A quart of whisky is worth $70 and hard to find. A rumor spread that a 53 gallon drum of Burmese gasoline was still available. One bidder offered $1,400 U. S. He had difficulty concluding the purchase.

China's "new life" movement, sponsored by the Kuomintang party with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's full support strives to spartanize the life of the wealthier classes, so that every scrap of China's resources will be sure to go into the war effort.

Thus, authorities have banned the sale of ice cream, cold drinks and coffee in humid Chungking, where temperatures last summer lingered stiflingly above 100 degrees. A few "ice cream speakeasies" opened—never more than four. Foreigners also discovered one "coffee speakeasy." It was raided by police and patrons tossed their coveted drinks out the window to get rid of the "evidence."

What Americans regard as necessities—tooth paste and razor blades, for example—are rare luxuries in the largest cities of free China. The things that can't be bought are legion.

VIGILANT Chinese and Indian customs officials have stamped out numerous smuggling rings that have tried to corrupt the air transport system between China and India, to divert cargo space for war supplies to items on which smugglers could make fabulous profits. One smuggler in Calcutta offered an America army pilot, enroute to China in a P-40 pursuit plant, $1,000 to "carry a 25 pound package to a friend."

Recently, Calcutta customs men frisked a suspicious civilian try-

War Publicity

By DAMON RUNYON

Washington Might Try Letting Ilic Cut Loose and Holler; Work Fine in Football Games.

I SUPPOSE there are numerous schol thought on the public relations, or licity policy, of our government in conn with the war. I would not decry any of th their entirety. They all probably have their points, including the one dominating at p that seems to tend largely to extreme rel not to say secrecy.

My discussion has no relation to the trip of President Roosevelt, save as th forced secrecy in that instance may see reflect the current general public rel policy. I could easily be tempted into a price that President Roosevelt did not up the idea of that secrecy out of his head. I strongly suspect that some mind at his elbow sold him the notion that said M. M. now lives in constant of being belled with an over-ripe cod censorship as a result of the flareback.

But aside from this, I find many pe wondering if the theory that news of events should be withheld from the p until weeks after the happening and th should then be tinctured by an atmosphe understatement and restraint, is right, or the idea that all our production activities s be completely veiled, is right either.

It is agreed, of course, that no inform should be divulged that might be of to the enemy, but some intelligent citizens that concealing and understaing all our and accomplishments in the war to the pe mystifying our own people and leading into idle speculation and rumor-mongering nothing but harm to ourselves.

THEY feel that our general policy of p relations coupled with a curious perm of criticism not always well founded of of our war products, such as planes, an our other alleged shortcomings in the war is having the effect of a wet blanket on people. They hold that what we need in licity is more enthusiasm—that we need of good claimers or builder-uppers for our like the sports publicity fellows who contin hammer on the merits of a proposition, no demerits.

These fellows tell you that the subje their ballyhoo is the greatest thing of the that ever came off in this world and the is they steam up the interest of the p to the fever point, though the public is g ally aware that the claims are exagge But the same result certainly could no achieved by soft-pedaling the importanc the matter.

Of course no one would suggest that government's publicists falsify the news, many think that if it is good news they si give it out at once and make it important heat up the public imagination and not dr on the customers weeks later like a cold soggy potato. Exponents of the heat-le publicity theory have no patience with policy of saying in effect, "Well, here but don't get too excited about it because not the end."

NATURALLY it is not the end, and the ple knew it is not the end. But they entitled to get enthusiastic for a minute same as the folks at a football game over touchdown for their side though they even as they enthuse that the other guys also make a touchdown later on. The Ame victories at Midway and in the Solomons c for bonfires and dancing in the streets, ye way the government let out the news no even got the urge to celebrate.

Probably the government does not wa give the people the feeling of over-confid which can easily become inertia. Indeed a time there was an idea in Washington the best method of making the folks pa tention to the war was by scaring them This had no effect because our people do scare easily and since then other ideas been tried. But no one in authority has advanced the thought of stirring the enthus of the people by expert claimers, which, can be done without distortion or tipping enemy off to anything he does not already k might be worth an experiment.

"Know Your Money"

With the nation fighting for its existence counterfeiter has become not merely a p enemy, but a fifth columnist, if not an out traitor, Frank J. Wilson, chief of the U States Secret Service, said today in discu the Secret Service program of crime preve through education. "Counterfeit money i instrument of war as surely as tanks, pl guns and bombs. The history of warfare sh that counterfeiting has again and again used to support military operations, and not unlikely that this means of attack ma used in this country by enemies of the U States," Chief Wilson said.

"The Secret Service program of crime vention through education can be the m for thwarting such an attack and for foilin home variety of hoodlum in his assault on integrity of the nation's currency."

During the period 1933 to 1936 the Amer people lost an average of $771,000 each as victims of passers of counterfeit bills. of these losses resulted from a lack of kn edge about the appearance of money, and deficiency was the stock-in-trade of the money makers.

In 1937 the Secret Service opened its "K Your Money" campaign, sending agents all the country to teach storekeepers and o money handlers how to detect counte money. Counterfeiting losses began to decr and the educational activity was stepped By 1941 the Secret Service had reached mil of people by means of newspapers and m zines, educational motion pictures, leaflet "Know Your Money" booklet, merchandi counter displays, instructive exhibits, and the incorporation of "Know Your Money" terial in standard school textbooks for use unit of study in high schools.

For the year ended June 30, 1942, losses fered by victims of counterfeit money pa were 93 per cent less than the 1933-1936 a age, and what had started as a campaign now become a permanent program of c prevention through education.

"Education can prevent the crime of coun feiting," Chief Wilson said, "With the coop tion of the American public this kind of ed tion will defeat any Fifth Column bad m plot. By learning to detect counterfeit m our citizens will help themselves and country, and strike a blow at the enemie the United States."

GYPSY CHILDREN WED AT ENCAMPMENT

Gypsies—more than 300 of them—gathered from all corners of the nation to witness the wedding at Belleville, Ill., of 11-year-old Katy Miller, of Wisconsin, to Tom Johns, 9, of Arlington county, Va. (above). The celebration was a day-long affair, with the celebrants resplendant in flowery festival finery. The wedding ceremony, however, lasted only 20 minutes, after which the bride and groom resumed their play with other children. Frank Johns, father of the bridegroom, said his son and bride would live in his household as brother and sister until they reached the legal age for civil marriage. The big gypsy encampment was probably the last for the duration.

ing to board a China-bound airliner. They found $63,000 worth of gold bullion. In China, he might have realized a profit up to 1,000 per cent.

Despite Axis propaganda that the Chinese have been betrayed by their allies, despite the famine of arms with which to fight and of food and clothing with which to live despite the immediate darkness of the war's outlook, Anglo-American observers in China say the nation's will to resist is amazingly undiminished.

Chinese look back on the Tokyo air raid as a harbinger of the new style of war to come. They idolize Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault and his American bomber and fighter pilots. They trust Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell to plead their case merely with the United Nations' high command.

The Chinese, however, are admittedly fed up with promises. They assert they will do their part, notwithstanding. They will be in there fighting, no matter how long they have to wait for further help. But the sooner help comes the better.

A DELAYED dispatch by Herbert L. Matthews, published in the New York Times describes a training camp in eastern India where Chinese soldiers who flee from Burma with Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of United States forces in southeast Asia, are being trained in modern warfare. "Whether these men go back to China as fighting units or to train other thousands in China depends upon developments, but either way the Japanese are going to get a shock," says Mr. Matthews. He continues:

"This is a complete center. There is a hospital which on Aug. 30 had its peak of more than 1,000 patients but now only has half as many, most of them with malaria contracted in Burma. This is one of the worst malarial districts of India and Dr. Dyer of the Rockefeller Foundation has just come from Calcutta to advise on fighting the malarial mosquito.

"Good food and a healthful life have done wonders for the youngsters, each of whom has put on 10 to 15 pounds in weight. What is more impressive about them is the vigor with which they go about their various tasks. We watched groups all day. Some were starting in classrooms learning the principles of Enfield rifles, and Bren and tommy guns, while other groups out on ranges were firing at targets.

"It has been years since any Chinese force has had real ammunition with which to train its men. Their shooting is good with rifles for they handled them before. They are even better with 60-mm. trench mortars, which used to be made in China, but there are fine points to be learned. The main part of the course, covering the last 12 or 13 weeks, will be an engineering and elaborate tactical problems."

Autoist Hits Horse Near Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 14—Blinded by the lights of northbound traffic Raymond Biller of Tiffin failed to see a stray horse near Wyandot county fairgrounds until too late to avoid hitting the animal.

The horse, owned by Claude Taylor of Upper Sandusky, had strayed from the city dumping grounds farm, nearby, when the gate was left open by anyone leaving the grounds. It was necessary to destroy the injured horse.

Mr. Biller's car was brought to Upper Sandusky for repairs and he was later able to continue his journey to Columbus to visit his wife who is a patient in a hospital there.

MRS. MARTHA HUSTON DIES AT PROSPECT

Services To Be Held Friday at 2 P. M.

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, Oct. 14—Mrs. Martha Huston, 72, died here today at 7:15 in the home of Mrs. A. M. Chapin. Death was from heart trouble.

Mrs. Huston was well acquainted in Prospect and eight years following the death of her husband, Dr. Clarence E. Huston, moved here from Pauldin g. She had been a registered nurse many years in Toledo and vicinity. She was a member of the Paulding Presbyterian church and the missionary society of the Prospect Evangelical and United church. She was a charter member of the Prospect chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

She was born in Marseilles Oct. 6, 1870, to Thomas and Eliza Dunbar. Her father was a minister of the Presbyterian church for 14 years.

Surviving with the sister and the two step-sons, Dr. C. Huston of Cleveland and Maj. Clarence Huston of White Plains, N. Y., are three nephews also survive, Clarence Horn of Freehold, N. J., Frank Cellar of Cincinnati, and Robert Cellar of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the home and burial will be in the Prospect cemetery.

Appeal from Mother

Yesterday while authorities were attempting to solve the mystery, the mother made the following eloquent appeal in a letter to the public, signed simply, "Jane Scanlon":

"To the woman who took my baby:

"You have taken the only thing in the world to make life worth living, my baby. As a woman you must know what that means to a mother. I can only appeal to you, whoever you are, to bring back my boy, Danny.

"He is only a baby and has never hurt anyone. I can't believe that anyone who saw him could hurt him. He has always had given the best of care, and I am afraid that he will suffer, if not that you have taken him from me and from those who would see keep him healthy and happy and happy.

"You are a woman. You must know in your heart what it means to lose my baby. I have cared for him, and he is mine. I don't care what happens to me as long as you bring him back safely. He deserves to have a chance to grow up and live his life. Every baby has that right.

"Whatever reason you may have had for taking Danny, it can't be sufficient. Bring him back and I will forgive you. But if you harm him, God will surely punish you for it."

An Added Plea

To the note the mother superior of the hospital added a plea:

"Jane is a worthy girl and one who truly loves her baby. I have no doubt that she is perfectly capable of raising her young son according to the highest standards. She has proven that in her day-by-day work.

"Jane has made Danny her life. As mother superior of St. Ann's Infant Asylum, I pray for the safe return of Danny to his heart-broken mother."

According to one news report from Columbus, the father of red-haired, blue-eyed Danny has never seen the child. He married another girl while Miss Scanlon was an expectant mother.

Hospital officials reported the mother had had several opportunities to place Danny out for adoption but had turned them down emphatically.

She is one of 12 children, 10 of whom are living. Four are now in St. Vincent's orphanage, where she lived until two years ago when she went to Newark. Her father is a railroad section hand. Her mother died six years ago.

2 ARRESTED AFTER AUTO ACCIDENTS

One Faces Charge of Driving While Intoxicated.

In one of two minor auto accidents reported to city police Tuesday cars driven by John J. Dadnig, 30, of 397 Commercial street and Charles P. Groll, 71, of Waldo collided at West Center and Leader streets at 7:45 p. m. Groll was arrested by city police, investigating the accident, on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was to be arraigned in municipal court.

Carl E. Hughes, 19, of 896 North Main street was driver of an auto involved in a minor collision with another car driven by William E. Krohmer, 18, of 1096 East Center street on East Center street shortly after 8 last night. Hughes was arrested on charge of failure to signal for a left turn, causing a traffic accident.

$100 Bond Ordered Returned to Galionite

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Because a justice of the peace failed to appear in court, the $100 bond posted by Arthur Shaffer of Galion following his arrest on a charge of neglecting minor children was ordered returned to him today.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Shaffer was arrested Jan. 5, 1941, and lodged in the Erie county jail. Shaffer posted $100 bond for appearance before Justice of the Peace Edward Pfistner of Perkins township, Erie county, at a later date and was released.

After Pfistner failed to hold court on schedule, Ferguson held the bond was not forfeit "because in this case it was the magistrate and not the defendant who failed to appear."

Stalingrad Stand Becomes Symbol of Red Strength

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

LONDON, Oct. 14 — Stalingrad the magnificent continues not only to hold its ground but to muster the strength to counter-attack the Boche, thereby increasing the margin of the defeat which the allied nations are in the process of administering to the harried Hitler.

The stand of Stalingrad is one of the wonders of the world. Still, I believe we shall make a mistake if we allow our satisfaction to blind us to the cost of this defense and to how that cost might affect the speed with which the allied war machine is traveling toward victory.

Of course, it is difficult to think of Stalingrad in terms of other than those of mountainous strength. But when the story finally is written we likely shall find stark courage and willingness to die a greater defense than bullets.

Reds Suffer Also

In any event, while the Red armies have been hammering Hitler's boasted legions to bloody pulp the Muscovites themselves suffered grievously. Like the Germans, the defenders lost hugely in both men and material.

If there were the only drain, the Reds could stand it.

They have a wellnigh inexhaustible reservoir of manpower and equipment is replaceable. That is equipment would be replaceable if the Soviet had not lost a heavy percentage of its vital industries in western Russia to the invader. The Muscovites have lost mineral resources. They have lost the Ukraine, the breadbasket of the union, and so much other agricultural territory it may well be that Uncle Sam will have to ship food to them this winter.

True, Premier Stalin rushed fresh industries behind the mighty barrier of the Ural mountains. He has created new fields of grain. He is building a Russia within a Russia.

However, that doesn't replace the huge diversified industrial output or the oceans of golden grain which the Nazis have overrun. Nor does it alter the fact that the Red transportation system in western Russia has been disrupted.

Must Live on Own Fat

In short, the Russian bear is faced with the prospect of living on his own fat this coming crucial winter unless fortune thaws the earth out a bit for him. There you have, I believe, the basic reasons for Moscow's insistence on the opening of a second front.

Well, they want it as soon as possible because if they have to go through this winter fighting in the Caucasus against Hitler's full land strength they will arrive in the spring without having had a chance to recuperate and repair some of the heavy damage they have suffered.

They want allied action which will draw maybe 30 German divisions away from the eastern front quickly.

It is obvious that there is no military operation that would drain off such a great number of Nazi troops as an attack through western Europe.

I am putting this forward by way of information, not as argument. This column always has maintained that only the allied high command is capable of judging when and where fronts should be opened. Civilians must abide by that.

We have been promised "second fronts" and assume they will be forthcoming at the earliest feasible moment in view of the urgency of the situation.

MINERS PROPOSE LONGER WEEK WITH OVERTIME

Act on Ickes Request for More Production.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14 — The United Mine Workers of America scale committee recommended today modification of the present 35-hour work week to a six-day 42-hour week with time and one-half and "rate-and-a-half" for all miners working the sixth day.

Interior Secretary Ickes had asked for a longer work week in the industry.

The scale committee also recommended negotiating the "best basic contract obtainable" with operators but set no specific figure in view of war uncertainties.

"If, on the expiration of the present wage agreement," (March 31) the recommendation said, "the present emergency still exists, we (should) not press for the shorter work-day, in order that we may make every contribution toward meeting our nation's requirements in producing adequate coal supplies for wartime needs.

The committee also recommended seeking double-pay for Sunday and holidays; abolition of all "discriminatory differentials between districts;" and adjustment of "inequalities in rates of pay now existing between certain day-wage classifications."

80-Mile-an-Hour Driver Fined, Jailed at Bucyrus

U-BOATS MOVE TO NEW AREAS

British Report Axis Undersea Craft Lurking Near Cape of Good Hope.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 15—An authoritative British source said today that German submarine warfare has been intensified in the area around the Cape of Good Hope, indicating that U-boats are being "forced further afield by the defensive-offensive tactics of the United Nations."

Previous enemy efforts in this area, around the southern point of Africa on the main seaway connecting Britain and the United States with the Middle East, China and Russia, had been chiefly minesowing and occasional surface or U-boat raids.

"We now see a new phase beginning with U-boat concentrations," said this source, who insisted on anonymity.

This informant said the Nazis presumably were operating with a complete supply set-up.

One of the best means of combating the sub-surface menace, therefore would be to destroy refueling points, he added, declaring that United Nations warships probably were trying to seek out supply ships and possibly shore bases.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Oct. 14 — The German high command said today that its U-boats had sunk the 23,456-ton British liner Orcades and the 20,119-ton Canadian liner Duchess of Atholl, and declared that they were "engaged in transporting troops to Egypt and the Middle East."

(There has been no confirmation from any allied source that either ship had been sunk, or even attacked, and the claim was added to a lengthening list of German-reported submarine successes advanced recently without substantiation.)

The command said the Orcades was sunk off Capetown and the Duchess of Athol between Capetown and Freetown.

In addition, the high command said, two other ships totaling 17,425 tons were sent to the bottom of the South Atlantic off the African coast by German submarines and "in spite of the fact that continuous heavy autumn storms considerably handicapped operations," other U-boats sank 14 ships totaling 82,000 tons out of fully-laden convoys bound across the North Atlantic for England.

DRAFT REGISTRANTS WARNED BY GOBLE

Many Change Addresses Without Giving Notice.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Ohio registrants in increasing numbers are failing to notify local draft boards of changes in address and vital data affecting their status, Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, reported today.

"Unless registrants comply with instructions completely, local boards must apply the penalties of the selective service act," said Goble.

The greatest neglect, he said, was among men of the fourth registration group—those from 45 to 65 years old.

"The situation is actually becoming serious in some localities," the officer declared.

Registrants are required to report to local boards any change in address, in occupation or physical condition, and changes as to their dependents.

Armory To Be Improved

Co. H Men To Do Part of Work; Steps and Heating Plant To Be Reconditioned.

"Fall housecleaning" got under way at the Marion Armory Tuesday when workmen started repairs on the flagpole and steps leading into the building and completed plans for the reconditioning of the furnace. Sunday, some 25 volunteers from Co. H, Ohio State Guard, armed with paint brushes, hammers and other tools will give the building a "going over" to repair minor damages accumulated during the last two years when the building has not been occupied regularly.

Contracts for the repairs to the steps and flagpole have been let to the Baldauf Construction Co. and the repair of the furnace to John E. Peacock, plumbing, through the office of the state architect. Captain Carl Ebert will be in charge of the work, Sunday, starting at 10 a. m. The work, which will be designated as fatigue drill, is being done on Sunday because the volunteers are busy through the week.

Mess at noon will include waffles and sausage prepared by Sgts. Bill Dixon and Warren Hill.

The room occupied by the enlisted men's club will be included in the decorations and there will be dedication ceremonies when the work is finished. The public is invited to attend any of the regular Tuesday night drills held by the company, and on Tuesday, Oct. 27, there will be a showing of army training films, Capt. Ebert announced.

Stimson Puts 1943 Army at 7,500,000

ground forces needs for 1943, including those now abroad and in training at home to go over seas, at 3,300,000.

First Witness

Stimson was the first witness in the committee's hearing on legislation to lower the draft age in accordance with President Roosevelt's request broadcast to the nation Monday night.

He pointed out that the original draft law had contained provision for drafting men of 18 and 19 years but congress deemed it "prudent" then to postpone the induction of the younger men.

Earlier plans for induction of these men, he said, were "based upon history and upon experience," adding that "in facing a critical war like this we naturally look back to similar cases."

All major wars in which the United States has engaged in the past, he explained, were "largely carried through by men under 20, from 18 to 20."

"It is a contingency which we have faced, based upon experience, that the country will have to rely on men of those years," he continued. "The truth of the power of youth to meet an opposing youth has been made a fundamental conviction in my mind."

The secretary said medical records disclosed that the 18-19 group had a much higher percentage of men fit for military service than later age groups, and "it is also patent" that their induction would be less likely to disrupt industry, agriculture and normal domestic life.

Army Too Old

"But those are matters of auxiliary and secondary importance," he added, "the important thing is that the youth constitutes the perfectly indispensable class of men to make an army."

Stimson declared:

"I want to say to you, that whatever the size of the army, one sole criterion for gauging its strength will be its striking power—based on the calculation of mobile forces capable of offensive action, which is the only way we can win this war."

But he warned "our army is getting too old. There are men coming from the induction centers who are too old for front line fighting."

Stimson told the committee that a study of one army group disclosed that 50 per cent of the men of that outfit were over 35 and 25 per cent over 40. He gave the average age of men in divisions recently activated as follows: March—25 years, 2 months; June—27 years, 5 months; July—27 years, 10 months; and August—28 years, 2 months.

"That is too high," he said. "When the crack comes, the older men will have to be supplanted with younger men, untrained with the divisions then in battle, and this would weaken the fighting army.

"Men over 40 should not go into the kind of fighting into which American armies have to go."

Stimson told the committee there was "no comparison between the 1918 armies and the American army of today, in the elements of pre-training and integration," that America's army now is trained for a "war of maneuver."

8 ET 40 INSTALLS 1942-43 OFFICERS

Mrs. Margaret Foreman Heads Women's Honor Group.

Mrs. Margaret Foreman was installed as 8 et 40 chaplain of Marion salon, 8 et 40, with other officers at an installation service at Hotel Harding Monday night. Mrs. Helen Busser of Cleveland, departmentale chaplain, was in charge. Others taking office were Mrs. Vena Stiller, le premier demi-chapeau; Mrs. Hazel Hoopes of LaRue, le deuxieme demi-chapeau; Mrs. Inus Elkenbary, secretaire-tessiere; Mrs. Iva Behner, paumonier; Mrs. Bess Marks, la surintendante; and Mrs. Wave Allen, l'archiviste. The 8 et 40 is the honor society of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The service took place before a white altar on which were red candles and red chrysanthemums. After the installation Mrs. Busser announced the reappointment of Mrs Behner as ritual and regalia chairman of the department of Ohio. She praised her record in the office as "the best in the history of 8 et 40," and declared that she was pleased to have two Marion women as members of her official family. Besides Mrs. Behner, Mrs. Elkenbary is le premier demi-chapeau of the state organization. She was elected at a convention in Canton in August.

Lists Objectives

Mrs. Busser outlined the major objective of the organization for this year. Instead of child welfare as it has been in previous years, the emphasis will be on national defense with the sale of war bonds and stamps and the securing of blood donors as special phases of the work. "The boys are giving their all, while we are giving our time only," she said, stressing the importance of this year's objectives. She was presented with a gift from the Marion salon.

The auditing report for the year was given by Mrs. Foreman, chairman of the committee, and the year's history was given by Mrs. Gussie Campbell of Mt. Gilead, past archivista.

Committees Named

Committees appointed by Mrs. Foreman included partnership, Mrs. Behner, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Marks; child welfare, Mrs. Miller; finance, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Hoopes, Mrs. Katherine Cocconower of Fredericktown and Mrs. Inez Winget of Edison; ritual and regalia, Mrs. Marks, music, Mrs. Elkenbary.

A special award was won by Mrs. Foreman. A two-course luncheon was served. The sixth anniversary of the salon will be celebrated Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Florence Herrigel. Mrs. Behner was appointed to make arrangements.

A community recreation group, formed by residents of the rural area around Orem, Utah, owns a large motion picture theater, a swimming pool, open air dance hall, softball field and baseball field. Jap Air Power Weak in Kiska

By The Associated Press

ALASKAN ARMY AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 14 — There is comforting quiet these days in the air over Kiska—a signal, allied pilots believe, that the enemy has forsaken aerial defense of the outer Aleutian territory he seized four months ago.

Flights of heavy bombers dispatched almost daily to devastate the Japanese island positions still are bounced through the skies by anti-aircraft shells when they arrive over their targets.

The enemy's ground fire, indeed, is improving in quality of aim if not in weight of guns, and many a raiding plane returns bearing the scars of battle.

But not since Oct. 3 has a single Japanese fighter risen to challenge the growing might of the Canadian-American air attack.

Six Zeros met the incoming bombers on that last day. But as they drew within firing range, American fighters swooped down out of the sun, knocked out five of the Japanese and drove the other to frantic flight.

It was the same story all during September starting from the time the army established its base on the Andreanof islands only 250 miles from Kiska and thus made it possible for the shorter ranged fighter planes to accompany and protect the bombers on their missions to the west.

By the month's end, the allies had established a phenomenal 22 to 1 ratio of Japanese plane losses to their own, even though the bulk of the fighting was over enemy territory.

Since Oct. 3 the raiders occasionally have spotted a few planes scattered on the water at Kiska. None of these ever has left the surface, and the conclusion here is that they probably are damaged, useless hulks.

In the last days of their air defense, the Japanese resorted to desperate bluff. A favorite trick was for an enemy pilot to stimulate a deliberate collision with an attacking bomber, hoping that to avoid the crash, the bomber could be made to veer from its course.

The Americans soon grew wise to this strategy and refused to swerve from their bombing runs, forcing the Japanese instead to turn aside and expose themselves to heavy machinegun or cannon fire.

Ohio Wheat Quota Case Taken Under Advisement

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — The supreme court has taken under advisement a question of the constitutionality of quota provisions of the agricultural adjustment act which was raised by a group of Montgomery county, Ohio farmers.

The court heard arguments in the case yesterday. Solicitor General Charles Fahy contended that congress had power to control wheat supplies, including wheat used on the farm, while Harry N. Routzohn, Dayton attorney, argued that no government could direct how much wheat a man could produce on his farm for his own use.

No indication was given when a decision would be announced.

MARION HARDING, ST. MARY FACE TOUGH FOES THIS WEEK

Presidents Tackle Ashland in N.C.O. Feature; Irish Play Fostoria St. Wendelin.

A BIG week faces Marion's two scholastic football teams.

Marion Harding, winner of three straight games this season and undefeated in 14 straight games over a three-season period, faces a powerful Ashland eleven Friday night at Harding stadium in the No. 1 game of the 1942 league season.

Fresh from a 32-0 victory over Forest of Hardin county, Marion St. Mary seeks its second straight victory at the expense of Fostoria St. Wendelin Saturday night at the stadium.

Murphy Misses Irish Workouts This Week

Offensive practice is again the order of the day in the Irish grid camp as Coach Gene Fetter, an ex-Irish grid great, preps the Saints for their Saturday night engagement with Fostoria St. Wendelin.

Bob Murphy, who carried over three touchdowns as the Saints won easily over Forest by a score of 32-0 last Friday, is suffering from a banged up collar bone. He will probably miss at least one more Irish workout this week, but Coach Fetter said he will be definitely in the St. Mary starting line-up.

A win over the Fostoria eleven will give the Saints an even break in four starts. The locals bowed to Tiffin Calvert, 20-0 in the season's opener and 13-0 to Crestline before shellacking Forest a week ago.

Fostoria won over Fremont St. Joseph, 31-0, last week for its first victory in four starts.

Friday Game Tops N. C. O. Program

In a game ranking alongside of the state's foremost scholastic grid battles, Marion Harding's Presidents and Ashland's Hilltoppers tee off against each other in Harding stadium Friday night with the championship of the North Central Ohio league as the probable prize for the winner.

After hearing a report of several team members that Ashland scouts had been watching the Hardings' daily workouts, Head Coach Victor Dorris announced Monday night that all practices this week would be held on the stadium field. Admittance to both the stadium and field has been restricted to Harding partisans only.

Plan Secret Attack

Coach Dorris and his Harding charges this week are working on a secret plan of attack.

Both LeRoy Harvey, who suffered a slight head concussion in the Mt. Vernon game, and Don Kay, star tackle who missed last week's Lima Central tussle, are back in the fold and will be available for Friday's game.

Coach Dorris said last night that he was uncertain whether or not Harvey, the Hardings' stellar fullback, will be in the starting line-up against the A's Thursday afternoon's final practice will determine whether or not Harvey will start, Dorris said.

While both Harvey and Kay are certainties for Friday night, Coach Dorris revealed today that Harold Jenkins the ace Harding halfback and leading scorer, will miss tonight's practice under the lights because of a slight attack of influenza.

Boost Unsullied Goal

In winning four straight games, the Ashlanders have piled up 105 points to none for the opposition Ashland's mark this season is about equal to the Pixsy records up to the same point a year ago.

Capitalizing on a pair of Ashland misplays, Harding won last year's tussle by a score of 12-0 Both Harding touchdowns resulted from pass interceptions Making the interceptions were Jenkins and Leo Belknap, one of star backfield players lost by graduation.

After winning over Willard, 12-0, in the opener, Ashland scored wins over Norwalk by 33-0, Bucyrus by 20-0 and Shelby 40-0.

Leading the A's attack again this year is Bob "Bubbles" Puglisi, a second-team all-N C O nominee last year. Also in the backfield in starring roles are Bob Dove and Leo Strong. Finley at left guard is the Ashlands outstanding lineman, Harding scouts announced.

SEEK FIRST VICTORY OVER IOWA SINCE '27

Illini Ranked Fifth in National Poll.

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 14—Having reached, at long last, the end of one drought, the University of Illinois footballers come here Saturday a-thirsting for more of that victory-rain from the skies.

Refreshed by a 20-13 victory last week over Minnesota's Golden Gophers, which gave them their first Big Ten triumph since 1939, the truly fightin' Illini hope this week-end to terminate another long dry spell—one which hasn't seen an Illinois victory over Iowa since 1927.

Of course, there were nine years in that span when the Hawkeyes and Illini didn't meet, but most of the times the teams did clash, the Iowans were admittedly the stronger, although held to ties in two of the five games.

This year, however, the surprising Illini are undefeated in three games and are ranked the fifth strongest team in the nation by 91 sports writers participating in an Associated Press poll. These same experts put Iowa in 19th place.

CARONE vs. NENOFF THURSDAY

It looks like the wrestling mat at the Marion Armory will be full of fire-works Thursday Night when Steve Nenoff and Fred Carone clash in the two-hour main event. Their tag match last Thursday ended in a near riot and both men ask for a chance at each other. One thing certain, there will be no punches "pulled" in this match.

Larry Kasaboski and Nick Billins wrestle the one-hour semi-final. Kasaboski is a new boy at the Armory and hails from Toronoto, Canada. Billins is an old hand on the Armory mat and has proved to be one of the best.

Axel Madsen and Jack Hobbs meet in the one fall opener at 8:30. Tickets are on sale at Markert & Lewis Cigar Store.—Paid Adv.

Harry G. Geisel Quits As American League Umpire

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14—After 32 years of calling 'em, Harry G. Geisel has resigned as an American league umpire; but just as surely as an umpire never loses an argument with a player, the arbiter won't forsake the banquet league.

Geisel disclosed at an American baseball dinner last night that he had sent his resignation to Will Harridge, American league president, so he could "aid in the war effort and make permanent business connections" here.

Geisel is regarded as one of the sport world's most popular banquet speakers. He never played professional baseball.

On the Local Front

Bucyrus, Galion Youths Are N. C. O. Contribution to Buckeye Football.

In line with the North Central Ohio conference's advance to the forefront of state scholastic football circles, more graduates from the six league schools are breaking into college football circles each year.

The climb of Marion's own Jack Stephenson to the captaincy of the Ohio State university team of a year ago is probably the major honor won by an N. C. O. gridder in recent years. The big tackle, now a member of the fabulous Great Lakes Naval Training station team, ended his Buckeye grid career year.

Cecil Souders

In July of this year he was selected, along with 75 of the nation's foremost grid stars, for membership on the 1942 collegiate all-star team. This team lost to the Chicago Bears, 21-0, in the annual charity contest played in Chicago on Aug. 28.

While at present there are no Marion youths on the Buck squad, two former N. C. O grid stars, both playing their first year on the Ohio varsity, have replaced Stephenson as this section's claim to fame.

Cecil Souders, a star at Bucyrus High school for three years and captain of the 1938 team, is one of Coach Paul E. Brown's eight end choices. Souders, who is six feet tall and weighs 189 pounds, plays at either end for the Big 10 championship bound Buckeyes. In this senior year at Bucyrus, Souders was a member of the Central Ohio high school all-star team which played in Florida. He was elected to a second-team berth on the N. C. O. sports writers' all-N. C. O. squad.

Bob Frye

Bill Durtschi, Galion star, handled practically all of the Buck punting assignments during the Bucks' last three games. However, a knee injury suffered in Saturday's Southern California setup may put the Galion flash on the shelf for a week or two, Coach Brown indicates. Durtschi won all N. C. O. mention three years in a row and in his junior year, 1938, won first team selection.

Bob Frye, co-captain of the state Class B championship Crestline team of 1938, turned in a 36-yard touchdown jaunt Saturday against the Trojans which was described later by Coach Brown as the "slickest play of the game." Frye, a junior, was one of the few sophomores to win letters on Coach Brown's first Buckeye team.

GRID "UPSET" IDEA SCOTCHED BY BIBLE

Veteran Coach Cites Causes of Unexpected Defeats.

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 14 — Coach D. X. Bible, who doesn't believe there is such a thing as a football upset, lays all these reversals this year to the fact that the players have too many things on their minds.

Bible, veteran University of Texas coach, once said:

"There is no football upset. Teams expected to win are beaten because they are not ready mentally or because something happens to disturb them in some other way."

So, when the major teams like Minnesota and Texas go down you can attach one of these three things to the upsets this season:

"The boys this year have many things on their minds. It's pretty hard to concentrate on football when there are things going on around you like we have now and you can't blame the boys for slipping sometimes.

"Secondly, many colleges already have sent gridiron stars to the armed forces and into war industries, sometimes making for erratic performances by squads replete with comparatively inexperienced players.

"Thirdly, travel conditions are not always conducive to winning. Where teams once chose their own transportation schedules, worked out between trains at wayside points and arrived on time, they now travel by any means at hand and make the best of it."

Bible commented that there is no substitute for experience so far as football goes.

Forest, Richwood Meet Friday in Annual Game

Forest will meet Richwood on the latter's field Friday afternoon in the annual game between the two schools. Richwood has not defeated Forest since 1934 when they eked out a 6 to 0 victory. Coach Palmer is working his team this week to overcome the weaknesses of the line as well as to improve blocking and tackling.

DECEMBER MEETINGS TO DECIDE FUTURE OF BASEBALL IN WAR

Both Majors and Minors To Convene; Cancel Separate Minors Session.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — The warume future of baseball, insofar as the magnates are masters of their own fate, is to be determined at meetings of both the major and minor league in Chicago the first week in December.

The majors now are in the process of approving the change of the site of their sessions from New York and the date to coincide with the minors, but it was learned today that enough clubs already have agreed to the switch to make the double-header meetings certain.

This gathering, one of the few times that majors and minors ever have assembled together, will replace the big convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, originally scheduled for Minneapolis, as well as the major league powwows in New York.

The Minneapolis meeting was cancelled more than a month ago by William G. Bramham, president of the National Association, to conform with the wishes of the office of defense transportation and at the time it was planned to have only a session of the league presidents.

However the revised arrangement will make possible the presence of minor league club officials and major league representatives who sponsor many of the teams in the small circuits. Most of the small leagues and clubs are withholding a decision on operations next year till they learn what support they can count upon from the major leagues.

MARIETTA TO RESUME COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Schedule Three Games for Present Season.

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 14—Football, previously suspended at Marietta college because of the war, today became a part of that school's athletic program once more.

President Draper T. Schoonover announced that the Pioneers had scheduled three games for the current season and a squad of hopefuls reported today for their first practice of the year under the direction of Don D. Drumm, line coach under former Coach Duke Hayes who now is serving in the armed forces.

President Schoonover said the decision to resume football was reached after spirited demands from the student body.

The president said he considered the students' action "a wise and healthful sign," and added:

"I want to be the first to buy a ticket."

The school cancelled its 1942 football obligations before the season opened because of a shortage of players and looming transportation difficulties.

The Pioneers will open their 1942 schedule Oct. 24 at Rio Grande. They'll meet West Virginia Tech at Montgomery, W. Va., Oct. 31, and play a return engagement with Rio Grande at Marietta, Nov. 7.

HOMECOMING GAME SATURDAY AT ADA

ADA, O., Oct. 14—Ohio Northern's Polar Bear gridders will play Capital university here Saturday in the main event of the annual two-day schedule of homecoming activities which will get under way with a bonfire and pep meeting Friday night.

Plagued by six and sixes—a 6 to 0 victory, a 6 to 0 defeat, and a 6 to 6 tie—in the three games played thus far this season, Coach Murphy hopes that his Polar Bears will break the deadlock on their scoring sheet.

While the Polar Bears played a 6 to 6 tie at Wittenberg last Saturday, Capital drubbed Bluffton by a score of 41 to 0, and the Polar Bears are expecting stronger opposition than that encountered last year when they defeated Capital, 27 to 6.

A feature of the annual game will be the crowning of the homecoming queen. Elected by popular student vote, she is Virginia Duvall of Bellaire, a senior in the college of pharmacy.

The coronation ceremonies preceding the Ohio Northern-Capital game will also include the presentation of Miss Duvall's attendants: Ruth Mitchell, Spencerville; Helen Richards, Kenton; Mary Floyd, Lima, and Jeanne Loy Bischoff, Ada.

Paul Brown Warns Buckeyes To Forget State's Position in AP National Poll

Buck Mentor Is Willing To "Give Title to Anyone."

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14 — Sports writers have voted Ohio State's Buckeyes the nation's No 1 college football team, but Coach Paul E. Brown is willing to "give the title to any one who wants it."

"Forget that stuff," he told his gridders after 91 sports writers, in the first Associated Press football poll of the season, designated Ohio State as the top team to date. "We have to play Purdue and six other teams."

The poll has put the Buckeyes "on the spot," Brown says.

"We have beaten three teams —Fort Knox, Indiana and Southern California — who, between them, have been able to win two and tie one out of nine starts," Brown commented. "Every coach we meet from now on will come here with tears in their eyes and with players geared to knock over a Goliath. It sure looks tough the rest of the way."

Brown, who expects every Big Ten team to be beaten at least once this season, declares the Buckeyes are "pretty well butchered up by injuries now, and we just got along by the skin of our teeth when the boys were in tip-top shape. All four of our left ends are on the shelf with injuries, two of them definitely out for weeks. But we've got to patch one of the others up for Saturday."

Brown admits his team is tops in one thing—drawing big gates. A total of 127,218 saw the first three games, but Brown explains:

"That doesn't mean a thing when it comes to making touchdowns."

Galion Reserves To Play Massillon Jr. High Team

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 14—John F. Burnison, former Galion High school mentor, will bring his Edmund A. Jones Junior High school football team from Massillon to Galion tonight for a game under the Heise park lights with the Galion Reserves.

Coming with a record of four victories in which they have piled up 89 points to their opponents' 6, the Massillon team is a heavy favorite. Their victims include Barberton, Massillon Lorin Andrews, Massillon Longfellow and Alliance. Last year Burnison's team defeated the Galion Junior High team by a score of 28-13.

BIERMAN AFTER FIRST VICTORY OVER IRISH IN COACHING CAREER

Seahawks May Accomplish Feat Gophers Failed To Do Twice.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 14—If Notre Dame trips the high flying Iowa Seahawks here Saturday, it will be something of a moral victory for gridiron superstition.

To learn why, the Irish will be wearing green jerseys again. They discarded their traditional blue jerseys for the green shirts last week against Stanford and scored their first triumph of the season—a 27-0 win.

Then, too, Notre Dame never has lost to Bernie Bierman, who before taking over direction of the naval pre-flight school team this year, twice watched his Minnesota elevens bow to the Irish—in 1937 and 1938.

Inversely, Notre Dame never has beaten the University of Iowa, and it's the "Iowa" in Iowa Seahawks that carries an ominous ring for the Irish.

Tackling was the only contact work in the Notre Dame practice yesterday. The Seahawks who will bump into the T formation for the first time, experimented in defenses.

Other practice highlights yesterday in the midwest football camps:

Tom Kuzma, injured before the season began, worked out in the Michigan backfield for the first time as the Wolverines drilled for their conference opener with Northwestern . . . The Wildcats, who have lost Halfback Joe Scriba, Otto Graham's understudy, for an indefinited period, concentrated on defense . . Iowa and Illinois both held scrimmages for their game Saturday, with Iowa stressing blocking . . .

At Wisconsin, Backs Elroy Hirsch and Pat Harder and Tackle Bob Honaiik limped around and Coach Stuhldreher said he would not risk contact work this week for the Great Lakes game . . . The Sailors polished their aerial attack . . . Purdue also stressed forward passing . . . Ohio State, anticipating Purdue aerials, worked long on defense against them . . . Indiana, which will oppose Pittsburgh, likewise practiced on defense.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Ever stop to think how hard a sports promoter has to work to get you to buy a ticket for his games?

We never had thought much about it, either, until Al Sutphin, the big ark and ice man from Cleveland, started telling the other night how he got such crowds to watch his hockey club. To mix like providing a winning team, bringing in new men every season and spending plenty of cash for advertising are just the starters. "I've got to get that there's a hockey game every Saturday night, rain or no exceptions," Sutphin explains. "The fans always know what to expect. Our club spends $9,000 a year more on travel than the others just to get those Saturdays. I'll even make a circus out of it for a game."

Then there's the little matter of arranging special nights for clubs and industrial organizations, and after-dinner speaking.

• • •

Beak-Bashing Ballyhoo—Another angle Saturday pointed out is that Cleveland's boxing revival began when the promoters shifted their shows into big arena from the public auditorium, which holds more people but isn't strictly a sports hall. "After all, you couldn't expect an opera to advertise a fight."

• • •

Sportpourri—If the governor of North Carolina stops to talk with the governor of South Carolina these days, they're probably arguing whether North Carolina's Shan Highsmith is a better center than South Carolina's Louis Sossamon . . . Arbur Wood, the New York Sun sports editor, has figured out that, if taxes remain at their present levels, Joe Louis will have to take down $2,170,000 in purses to save enough to pay his debts. No wonder Joe is a bit confused about when he has retired.

• • •

Service Dept.—After Lieut. Kenneth Ormiston, former Cleveland player who coaches the Colorado Springs air base football team, cancelled last week's game with the Wichita Air Corps Commandos, he gave this explanation why his boys deserved a rest: because equipment arrived late, his squad couldn't scrimmage until Friday before the opening game . . . was a couple of weeks before they could get started after their drills without a break clear down town: out of the original squad of 42, four weeks were lost by transfers within two weeks, and eight others were in the hospital after the first two contests.

Nationwide Freezing of Rents Requested

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The President today asked congress to give him power to freeze rents throughout the nation as a part of the program to check the rising cost of living

Presidential Secretary Early announced the request in a statement issued at the White House after Mr Roosevelt had conferred with Chairman Brown (D-Mich) of the house banking committee

Brown said the president told him he wanted the power to freeze rents at the level that prevailed on September 15, 1942

The president's request was made in a letter to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) which was read in the house by Brown

SELLING TREND LOWERS PRICES

Heaviness of American Telephone Leads Market to Lower Level.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Heaviness in American Telephone inspired a moderate amount of selling in today's stock market and prices generally coasted a little lower.

Minor advances were well distributed at the opening. Declines of fractions to around a point were general near the fourth hour.

Sentiment remained fairly cheerful on the score of war news, but buying interest was more conservative in view of analysts' suggestions the recent extended advance may have impaired the market's technical position.

Telephone dropped about 2 points in early proceedings, sharply reversing yesterday's action. N. Y. Central dipped a point on active dealings. Others in minus territory included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Air Reduction, Santa Fe and Great Northern.

Bonds and commodities were irregular.

There was disappointment for followers of the rail shares in the New York Central's announcement that its directors transacted only routine business at today's meeting. Central's last dividend was paid 12 years ago.

POETRY WHILE YOU WAIT

By The United Press

AMARILLO, Tex.—If you drive up to one of the local drive-in stands and show signs of getting impatient, you are likely to be reading the following bit of poetry, printed on a card which will be stuck under the windshield wiper:

Patience With a Smile

Remember Pearl Harbor and don't sweat
For labor is scarce and metals are rare.
Jim has been drafted and Bill is a gob,
And Sarah has left us to fill their job.
You'll get your order, don't be vexed,
Maybe this week—(or maybe next).
They've gone in defense of you and me,
So all that counts now is—Victory.

Problem in Aviation

NEWEST and most dangerous of the standards of modern medicine is that of aviation. There is to be expected an advance of the prominence which that branch of medicine has acquired.

The fundamental medical problem of aviation is one of attitude. We have come to accept the fact that the aviator has gone through the most rapid physical examination of anyone in the service. His heart, eyes, ears, equilibrium apparatus, psychologic responses to environmental changes, all have been inspected to spot any weaknesses, many of them the result of years of research.

When a man has successfully passed these, he may indeed be considered super. But even the supreme physical specimen may have to undergo environmental changes in the course of a single flight which test his endurance beyond its natural capacity. The environmental changes are due to altitude, refrigeration of air and consequent oxygen lack.

It was, of course, a fairly simple thing to supply oxygen artificially by tank and mask, although it has taken a long time to perfect a workable and light apparatus. The credit goes to Drs. W. M. Boothby and W. R. Lovelace, of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., and D. A. H. Bulbulian—the B. L. B. oxygen inhalation apparatus.

The important question arises: At what height shall the flier be instructed to begin oxygen inhalation? The old military regulation specified 15,000 feet, or at 12,000 feet if for periods of two hours, or 10,000 feet if for periods of six hours. But this has been found under present war conditions to be entirely too high. It has been found that aviation crews who fail to use their oxygen at 6,000 feet become easy prey to enemy planes, and show gross errors in judgment, mental lapses, lack of alertness and undue fatigue.

Another very serious accident due to altitude flying is called aero-embolism. It is exactly the same essentially as the long-familiar diver's caisson disease, which they called "the bends." This occurred when divers who were subjected to more than one pressure of atmosphere were suddenly taken up to air at sea level. They had severe pains in the muscles and joints, causing them to double up with cramps (hence "the bends"), which was proved to be due to the escape of air bubbles out of the blood into the muscle tissues.

The aviator, of course, goes through exactly what the diver does, only in reverse. He rises from an air pressure of sea level to an altitude of 16,000 or more feet, the pressure of gases in his blood is released, and the gases escape into the muscles. This occurs only when very high altitudes are attained.

In treatment the aviator has a great advantage over the diver, because when he gets the bends he can descend to a lower level, where the pressure will equalize the air content of blood and tissue. But this is only theoretical, because combat conditions may not allow him to descend and the condition itself may bring on fatigue, or even coma, so that he cannot control his plane.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"OH, SO THAT is the reason—" But I knew the real cause of the sudden stiffening of the angles of Jack Russell's mouth as he turned to my lip.

"Simply, and quite logically," he commented, and there was a hint of hurt in his glance at me.

"I'm surprised at your vacillating Katie," he said, and I knew the reference to our fanciful Katie was meant to cushion the shock of my supposed disloyalty.

For to Jack's entrance I would have said, "That's the reason, Father," if I were sure that Jack knew it, although you pretended not to know his destination on the journey into Northern Connecticut, "you and he was passing."

Stayed at Hideaway

Now I know that Jack never had left the hideaway since the night I brought him there, with Pride on Driscoll and the six gangster car men had captured at the old savant's secluded mountain home.

I knew also, from my husband's expression, that he, too, knew the identity of the man in the corridor. My father had confided the secret to him, but had meticulously kept it from me.

For a tempestuous instant I sawed, then reason returned and I realized that my father and Dicky both were bound to secrecy by Jack's insistence that my wife Katharine should know nothing of his whereabouts, lest the knowledge bring danger to her.

I had no doubt Jack had made their silence the price of consenting to stay at the hideaway. He knew of my love for Katharine and loyalty to her, and probably feared I could not keep his secret. I realized that Miss Whitlock and Carolyn were eyeing me with surprised curiosity, and hastened to answer Dicky's glibe.

"Nobody ever accused Katie of failing in her objective," I said with a laugh.

"Right you are," he commented.

My father's entrance put a stop to our colloquy and, conscious that again he was warily scanning my face, I tried to give him courteous attention with no show of emotion. Then he spoke abruptly:

"Margaret, will you and Richard please come with me into the next room for a minute or two. They will be back almost immediately," he added gently to Carolyn, who had uttered a frightened "Oh!" at his words.

We traversed two passages through the anteroom of the apartment and into the tiny kitchen, we are soon to have a kitchenette.

"Sit down," he said briefly. "We cannot time. What I want is to get your reactions to Carolyn's new job. What do you think of her, since hearing her talk with that gangster?"

So he did not suspect that I had been there! I caught back a sigh of relief and spoke hurriedly.

"I think we are very much judging her," I said. "I am sure she knows nothing about Marcia's fate and that she is as terrified and serious about her as we are."

I looked appealingly at Dicky, for I knew he had been honest in his judgment of Marcia's "roomie."

"I think I agree with you," he said surprisingly. "Don't you, Dad?"

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Oct. 15

THERE should be many opportunities for putting the affairs to high goals of achievement, according to the propitious stars bearing rule today. All the affairs should have an exceptional opening for stability and security of far-reaching endurance. Business as well as art, music, the various literary and intellectual vocations and avocations are under promise for success. Lands, possessions, investments may also prosper. Be alert to deception.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of much pleasure and stability, with affairs moving to firm and enduring foundations for the future. All intellectual pursuits as well as business should flourish. An increase of possessions, investments and other properties should be put on a sound footing and security. But keep alert to fraud.

A child born on this day is fast and of deep insight. It should be sound, reliable, steadfast should win its success through its personal industry and integrity.

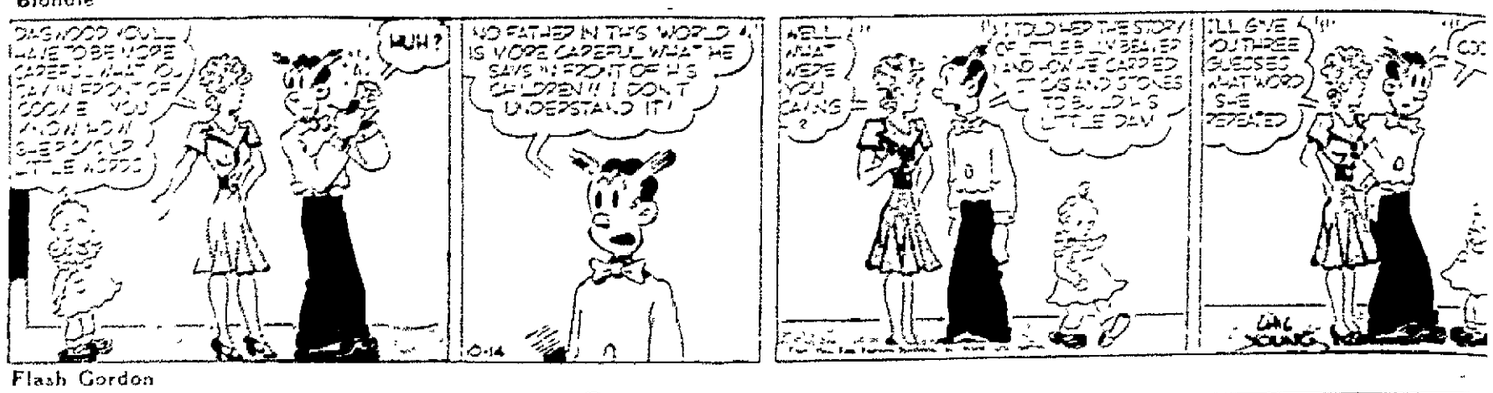
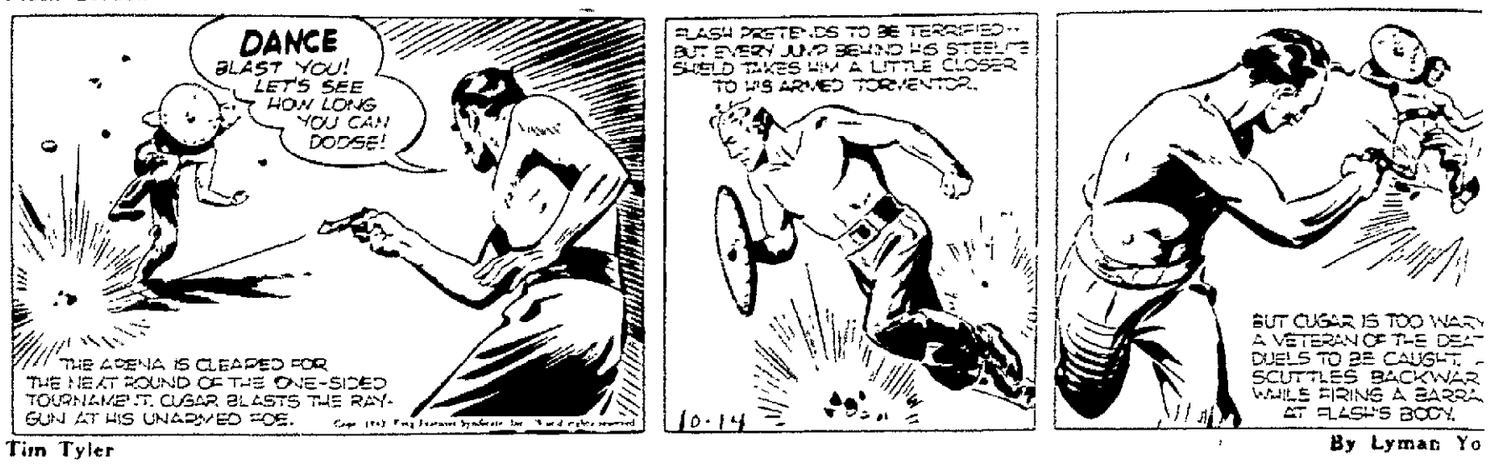
Blondie

By Chic Yo



DAGWOOD YOU HAVE TO BE MORE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY IN FRONT OF COOKIE YOU KNOW HOW SHE PARROTS LITTLE WORDS
HUH?
NO FATHER IN THIS WORLD IS MORE CAREFUL WHAT HE SAYS IN FRONT OF HIS CHILDREN!! I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT!
10-14
WELL WHAT WERE YOU SAYING?
I TOLD HER THE STORY OF LITTLE IN BELIEF AND HOW HE CARRIED EGGS AND STONES TO BUILD HIS LITTLE DAM
I'LL GIVE YOU THREE GUESSES WHAT WORD SHE REPEATED
CHIC YOUNG

Flash Gordon



DANCE BLAST YOU! LET'S SEE HOW LONG YOU CAN DODGE!
THE ARENA IS CLEARED FOR THE NEXT ROUND OF THE ONE-SIDED TOURNAMENT. CUGAR BLASTS THE RAY-GUN AT HIS UNARMED FOE.
FLASH PRETENDS TO BE TERRIFIED— BUT EVERY JUMP BEHIND HIS STEEL-ITE SHIELD TAKES HIM A LITTLE CLOSER TO HIS ARMED TORMENTOR.
10-14
BUT CUGAR IS TOO WARY A VETERAN OF THE DEATH DUELS TO BE CAUGHT. SCUTTLES BACKWARD WHILE FIRING A BARRAGE AT FLASH'S BODY.

Tim Tyler

GOLLY—WHAT A SPOT I'M IN—
MR. Z THINKS I'M ANTON DIRO, AN AGENT OF THE OCTOPUS, AND IS PLANNING FOR US TO ESCAPE FROM THIS PRISON SHIP—10-14
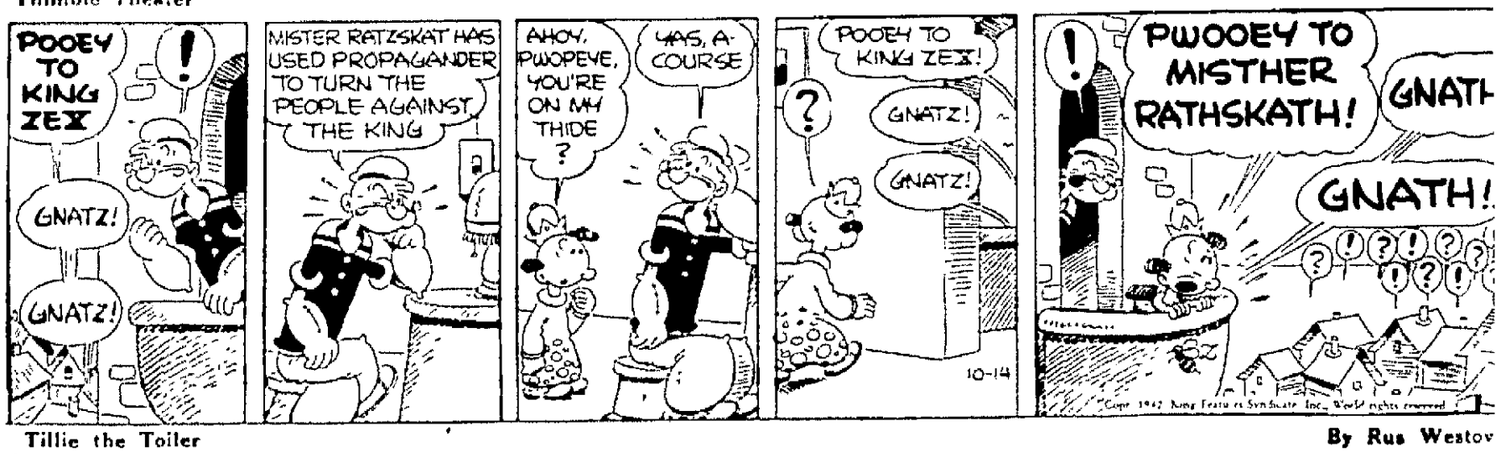
—IF I WARN THE AUTHORITIES OF HIS SCHEME, I LOSE MY CHANCE TO SEE WHAT GOES ON IN HIS SECRET LABORATORY— IF I TAG ALONG WITH THIS ENEMY SPY, I MIGHT BE SHOT WHILE ESCAPING AS A COMMON ENEMY TRAITOR—
IF THERE WERE ONLY SOMEONE HERE TO ADVISE ME GEE— WHICH ROAD SHOULD I TAKE?

Thimble Theater



By Rus Westov

Tillie the Toiler

THAT WAS A SUPERB FILM, EVEN IF I DIDN'T WRITE IT
I LIKED IT, TOO MR MUZZARD
10-14
WHAT DO YOU SAY— WE LOOK OVER ONE OF THE HOT NIGHT SPOTS?
I MIGHT
LET'S GO HEAR CORNY CORNELIUS PLAY. HE'LL PLAY ANY TUNE YOU LIKE, IF I ASK HIM
NOT TONIGHT— I'LL BE HEARING OUR BUGLER PLAY A TUNE I DON'T LIKE AT 6 A.M.

Toots and Casper

By Jimmy Murph

Dear Casper:- Why don't you call me up and take me to lunch one day? I haven't seen you in ages. We could talk over old times. I know Toots won't mind.- "Dimples" Dear 10-14
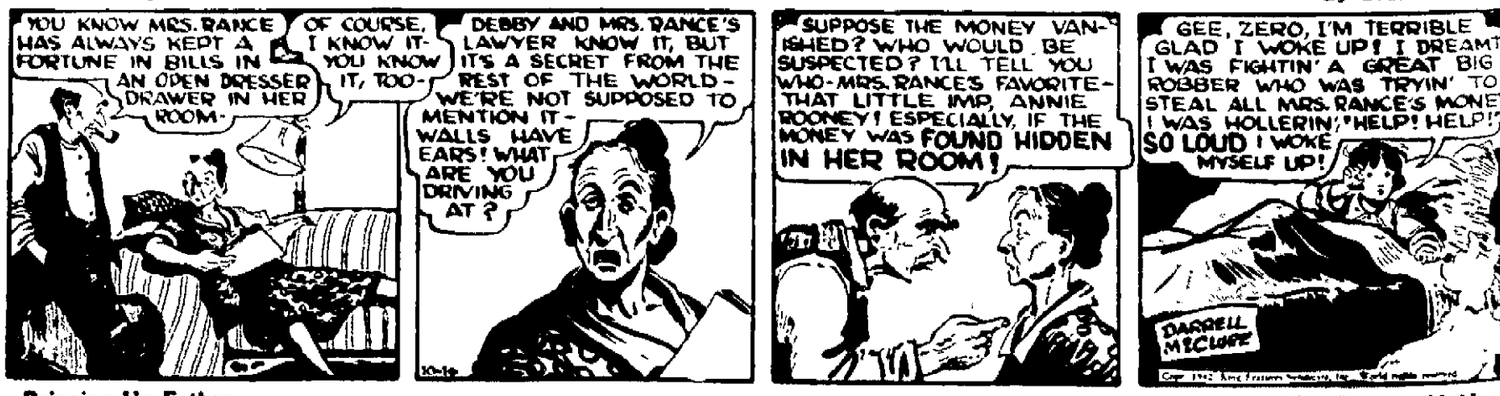
LET ME READ THIS AGAIN TO MAKE SURE!
NO, TOOTS WOULDN'T MIND--NOT MUCH!! SHE ALWAYS HAD IT IN FOR "DIMPLES" SINCE SHE TRIED TO TAKE ME AWAY FROM TOOTS WHEN WE WERE ENGAGED!!
I CAN'T HELP IT IF "DIMPLES" WRITES TO ME BUT JUST THE SAME I'VE GOTTA KEEP THIS FROM TOOTS"
JIMMY MURPH

Annie Rooney

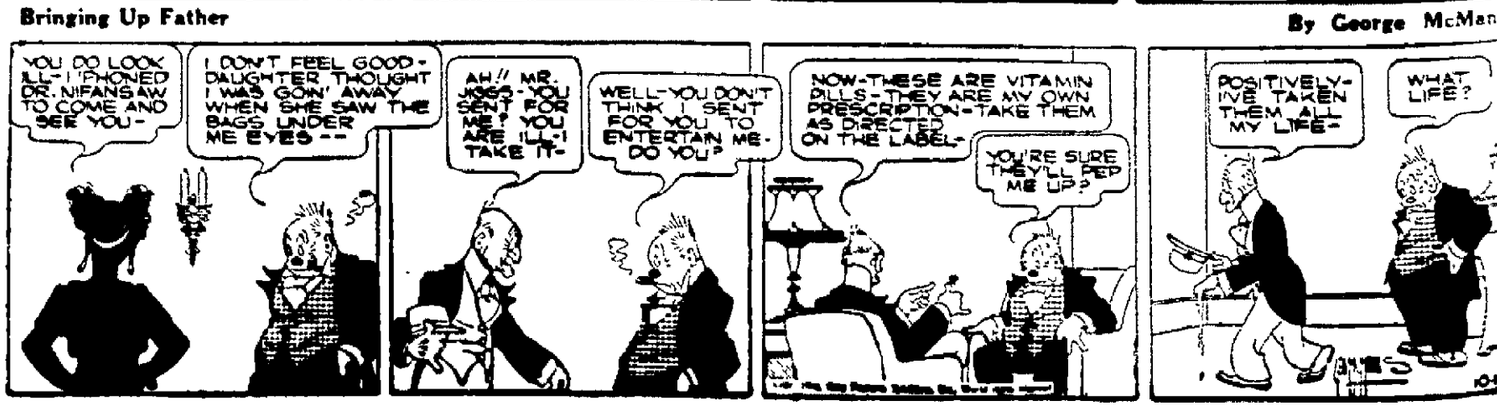
By Brandon Wal



YOU KNOW MRS. RANCE HAS ALWAYS KEPT A FORTUNE IN BILLS IN AN OPEN DRESSER DRAWER IN HER ROOM-
OF COURSE, I KNOW IT- YOU KNOW IT, TOO-
DEBBY AND MRS. RANCE'S LAWYER KNOW IT, BUT IT'S A SECRET FROM THE REST OF THE WORLD- WE'RE NOT SUPPOSED TO MENTION IT- WALLS HAVE EARS! WHAT ARE YOU DRIVING AT?
SUPPOSE THE MONEY VANISHED? WHO WOULD BE SUSPECTED? I'LL TELL YOU WHO- MRS. RANCE'S FAVORITE- THAT LITTLE IMP, ANNIE ROONEY! ESPECIALLY, IF THE MONEY WAS FOUND HIDDEN IN HER ROOM!
GEE, ZERO, I'M TERRIBLE GLAD I WOKE UP! I DREAMT I WAS FIGHTIN' A GREAT BIG ROBBER WHO WAS TRYIN' TO STEAL ALL MRS. RANCE'S MONEY! I WAS HOLLERIN', "HELP! HELP!" SO LOUD I WOKE MYSELF UP!
DARRELL McCLURE

Bringing Up Father

By George McMan



YOU DO LOOK ILL- I PHONED DR. NIFANSAW TO COME AND SEE YOU-
I DON'T FEEL GOOD- DAUGHTER THOUGHT I WAS GOIN' AWAY WHEN SHE SAW THE BAGS UNDER ME EYES--
AH! MR. JIGGS- YOU SENT FOR ME? YOU ARE ILL- I TAKE IT-
WELL- YOU DON'T THINK I SENT FOR YOU TO ENTERTAIN ME- DO YOU?
NOW- THESE ARE VITAMIN PILLS- THEY ARE MY OWN PRESCRIPTION- TAKE THEM AS DIRECTED ON THE LABEL-
YOU'RE SURE THEY'LL PEP ME UP?
POSITIVELY- I'VE TAKEN THEM ALL MY LIFE-
WHAT LIFE?
